Battle In Algeria Goes Into 2nd Day

Rightists Still Have Control Of Stronghold

ALGIERS (AP) — The European Secret Army spurned appeals to surrender Saturday and fought a two-hour battle with French troops surrounding the rightist suburban stronghold of Bab El Oued.

Ordered by President Charles de Gaulle to smash the secret army revolt, 10,000 soldiers encircled Bab El Oued, swept it with machine-gun fire, and reinforced their ring with tanks.

It was the second day of battle in the suburb, where many rightists are holed up and determined to fight to the last in their campaign to keep Algeria a part of France.

De Gaulle also sent his new commissioner for Algeria, Christian Fouchet, to Algiers. Fouchet went to barricaded administrative headquarters at Rocher Noir, 30 miles east of Algiers.

Fouchet will rule Algeria with the help of a European-Muslim committee of 12 until independence under terms of the accord worked out with the Algerian nationalist rebels last week. But first, the power of the secret army must be broken.

French officials said their heavy guns command every street in Bab El Oued. But they conceded that total occupation of that European workingman's quarter would not bring down the (Continued On Page 11)

Bear Hunt Sparks Military Scare In Arctic Region

WASHINGTON (AP) — A flight of Alaskan bush pilots on a polar bear hunting foray flew too close to Soviet territory last Wednesday and touched off a brief scramble of Russian planes, the Federal Aviation Agency said Saturday.

At least one U. S. military plane was put up to counter the Soviet action, an FAA spokesman said, but the Russian planes had turned back by that time. The activity was over in a few minutes.

He said he did not know exactly how close the U. S. bear-hunting fliers came to the Soviet-U. S. border, but it was "too close."

And the pilots, who annually fly hunters over the arctic pack ice this time of year, have been warned not to come that close again, the FAA said.

The spokesman said the incident took place in the vicinity of Diomedes Island in the Bering Strait.

Report Aramburu Urging President Frondizi Resign

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Elder Statesman Gen. Pedro Aramburu was reported Saturday night to have urged President Arturo Frondizi to bow to military pressure and resign. The Argentine News Agency Telpress issued this report after Aramburu canceled a radio-TV address he was to have made to the nation on the political crisis resulting from Peronist election victories last Sunday.

Aramburu, old war horse who toppled Dictator Juan D. Peron in 1955, was summoned from retirement by Frondizi to try to resolve the crisis. He held long meetings with the Army, Navy and Air Force secretaries and Telpress said, decided Frondizi should resign for "the pacification of the country."

There was no immediate confirmation of the agency report which, if true, could quickly mark the end of Frondizi's regime that began in May 1958.

After canceling his broadcast, Aramburu drove to Frondizi's suburban residence, stayed 45 minutes, then left hurriedly. Shortly afterward, Frondizi left to attend a dinner in his honor by visiting Prince Philip of Britain.

Followers of Peron sat back and watched the crisis unfold. They had brought it on with startling victories in provincial and congressional elections last Sunday.

They had capitalized on the unpopularity of the austerity program Frondizi pushed through Congress to try to rescue Argentina from the economic chaos left by the free-spending dictator.

Frondizi tried to appease the military, which is sworn to bar Peron's return, by voiding Peronist victories in five major provinces. For the moment at least, the Peronists were content with a petition asking a federal court to throw out Frondizi's decrees.

They also may have been sobered by the fact the 24-hour general strike Friday was largely ineffective because other big unions refused to go along.

The military was not appeased by Frondizi's postelection action or by his promise to form a new Cabinet half-civilian and half-military. Angered because Frondizi's government permitted the Peronists to resume political activity, some military leaders insist he get out in favor of a military junta.

Army Deserter Flies To Havana, Asks For Asylum

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cuban authorities reported Saturday an American soldier-flier sought refuge at Havana Friday. The Army said the man named by the Cubans is an Army deserter.

Havana newspapers identified the man as Bobby J. Keese, and said he landed a light civilian plane at Havana Airport at 10:30 Friday morning, described himself as a U. S. Army deserter and asked political asylum.

The Army here said Sgt. Bobby J. Keese, 28, has been listed as a deserter since Feb. 25. He left his post at Ft. Huachuca, Ariz., Jan. 15 on a 15-day leave and indicated he was going to Guaymas, Mexico. When he didn't return Jan. 30, he was listed as absent without leave and later was classified as a deserter. His home is listed as Amarillo, Tex.

The Army said Keese was assigned as an operator of a flight simulation training device and had access to no secret military information which would be of value to a foreign government.

The Army spokesman said that in addition to being wanted as a deserter, Keese was under investigation "for passing bogus checks and for forgery."

The United States maintains no diplomatic relations with Communist Cuba and there was no indication whether any attempt would be made to have Keese returned to this country.

Keese reportedly flew a single-engine, Piper Comanche plane which he had rented from the Seven Bar Flying Service at Albuquerque, N.M., last Wednesday.

He landed Friday at Marathon, in the Florida Keys about midway between Key West and Miami and took off hastily for the 150-mile hop to Havana.

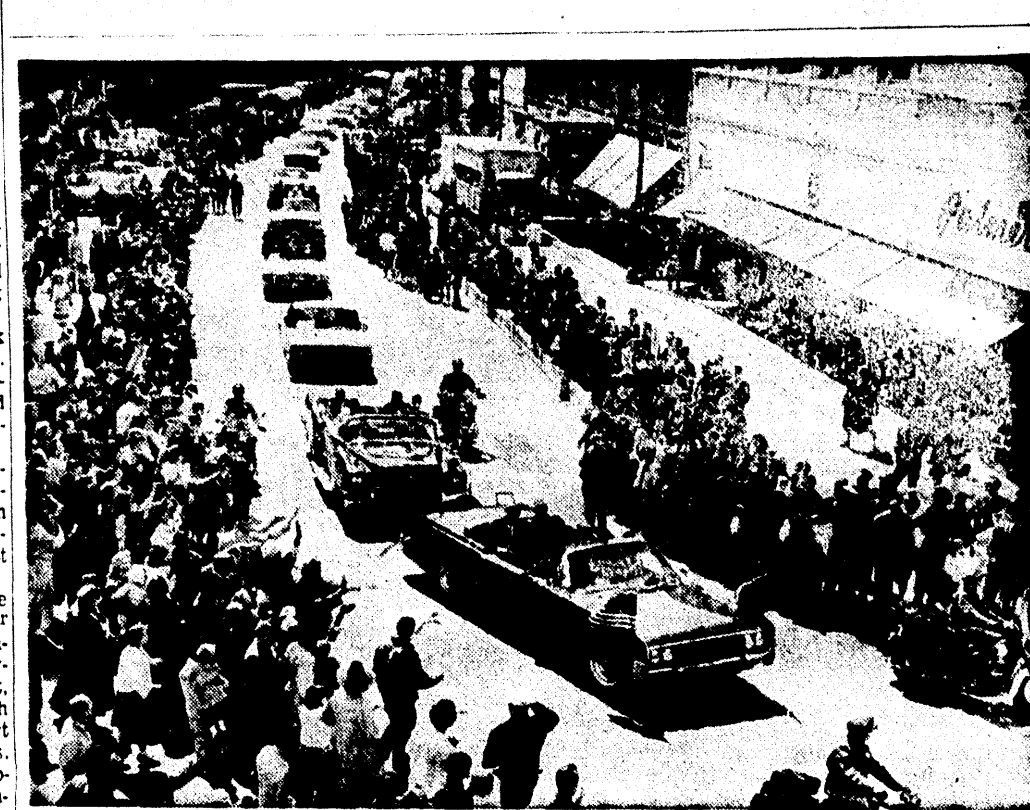

Keese had been stationed at Ft. Huachuca since July 1960. He was not married.

Keese was born in Allison, in the Texas Panhandle. His sister, Mrs. T. O. Riley of Amarillo, told newsmen she raised Keese from the time he was a year old.

"He just must be mixed up," Mrs. Riley said in regard to Keese's flight to Cuba. "I don't have any idea why he did it."

She said her brother enlisted as a paratrooper in 1951, was wounded in the Korean conflict and was given the Purple Heart and other medals. She said Keese planned to make the Army his career.

Kennedy, Eisenhower Discuss World Affairs

CROWDS CHEER KENNEDY: Crowds cheer President John F. Kennedy as his motorcade moves through the streets of Berkeley, California as he was enroute to the University of California where he was the principal speaker at the University's 94th Charter Day exercises in Memorial Stadium. JFK Waives Perogative, Calls On Ike PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — President Kennedy and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, chatting in the pleasant setting of a country club cottage, discussed international affairs for the greater part of an hour Saturday.

Kennedy and his immediate predecessor got together late Saturday morning in Eisenhower's vacation cottage at the Eldorado Country Club in nearby Palm Desert.

The chief executive drove the four miles to Eisenhower's California style stone and wood residence from his weekend retreat, singer Bing Crosby's home in the Silver Spur Ranch area.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger reported afterward that Kennedy and Eisenhower engaged in "a general discussion of the situation around the world." Kennedy, he added, had brought Eisenhower "up to date on a number of matters."

Salinger did not elucidate except to say the talks concentrated basically on international affairs. The face-to-face meeting of Kennedy and Eisenhower, the country's most prominent Republican, was evidently more congenial than a long-range exchange between Kennedy's traveling party and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Nixon, who lost to Kennedy in 1960 and is now seeking the GOP nomination to oppose Democrat Edmund G. (Pat) Brown's bid for re-election as governor of California, took critical note of Kennedy's presence. The President arrived Friday, accompanied by his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, and Nixon was quoted as saying: (Continued On Page 11)

Probers Say Hoard Of Millions Of Foreign Aid Funds Found

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional investigators say they have uncovered a multimillion-dollar hoard of foreign aid funds.

A report issued Saturday by the House Foreign Affairs Committee said there were "hidden reserves" of $17 million in Korea alone. Aid officials have repeatedly reported these funds "obligated," but they have not been committed at all, much less spent, the report said.

Based on spot checks in only three countries, Korea, South Vietnam and Turkey, committee investigators suggested the existence of "substantial hidden reserves available in all countries" receiving American aid.

The committee said this "hoard" could well run much higher because bookkeeping entries made toward the end of each government fiscal year show vastly larger amounts committed than are actually obligated or made available to finance economic imports.

In Korea alone, the investigators found more than $82 million had been so designated when actually most of the money was not really doled out until months later.

There was no immediate comment from the Agency for International Development, which administers the foreign aid program. The report gave some examples of how aid funds have been salted away, despite regulations and policies to the contrary.

In Korea, since 1958, $500,000 has been reported obligated for services connected with a fertilizer plant when in fact no such (Continued On Page 11)

Mrs. Kennedy Tours Historic Khyber Pass, Border Post

KHYBER PASS, Pakistan (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy toured twisting, historic Khyber Pass Saturday and visited a post on the border which has been closed for six months because of feuding between Pakistan and Afghanistan.

Bearded tribal leaders, in flowing trousers and turbans that had golden fringes around the bottom and plumes of starched feathers, welcomed her with two gift sheep at a traditional ceremony.

Mrs. Kennedy, in accordance with custom, merely touched the silk-decorated animals in token of acceptance, and the tribesmen then led them away to be slaughtered for their feast.

The wife of the U. S. President may also have set a fashion note. She was wearing Pakistan President Mohammed Ayub Khan's Karakul cap, his parding gift when she left Rawalpindi, Pakistan's new capital. She wore it slanted over the left eye.

If the fad catches on it would benefit most of all Afghanistan, with which Pakistan has been feuding. Some of the best Karakul sheep are raised in northern Afghanistan and their wool is the country's best dollar earner.

The hat, called an Astrakhan, is of the overseas cap style made famous by the late Mohammed Ali Jinnah, founder of Pakistan, and is often called a "Jinnah Cap."

FTC Eyes Ads For Homesites In Sunny South

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is casting a cold eye over those advertisements for fabulous bargains in home sites in the warm southlands.

The Federal Trade Commission announced Saturday it is investigating whether the properties live up to the rapturous descriptions which northerners hear and read. Many do not, said Daniel J. Murphy, head of FTC's Bureau of deceptive practices.

"Much of this advertising contains misrepresentations, and some of it appears to exaggerate to the point of fraud," Murphy said in a statement cautioning northern investors not to buy without visiting the property personally.

"While it is quite true that both desert and swamp have been reclaimed and made into vacation paradises when enough money could be plowed into projects, this is no warrant to believe that every other real estate dream can come true," Murphy said.

"More often, the swamp remains swamp and the desert remains desert, and the sucker pays for a pipe dream."

Murphy said his staff is looking into advertisements offering several acres for as little as $39 a month; representations that lots have all the city conveniences; claims that the stability of the area is guaranteed by the U. S. government; and claims that only a few lots are left for sale and that readers should buy quickly while prices are on the rise.

HIGH WATER ON THE ILLINOIS RIVER AT BROWNING caused concern among both civilian population and army engineers as the river stage crept up the marker. Saturday's reading was 21.5 feet at Beardstown. These views show flood conditions north of Beardstown at Browning where rising water has threatened a number of homes in the area. Farmers and residents were warned by civil defense and army engineers to make plans for a quick exit in case the water rose to the danger point. Livestock and machinery plus loads of stored grain were moved to higher ground last week.

Festive Baked Ham

A baked whole ham is a fine main dish for any occasion, appetizing, easy to carve and providing generous portions for a large group. Spiced crabapples are a complimentary garnish.

Hams these days come in a variety of sizes and styles. There are hams with the bone in, semi-boneless and boneless. There are whole hams, half hams, quarter hams and other size pieces. Some hams on the market are fully-cooked. Others require cooking before they are served. Then there is a variety of sizes of canned hams which, of course, are cooked.

A whole ham is easy to cook and is a regal looking main dish, providing a number of generous servings. Depending on the servings eaten at the first meal, there is usually left-over ham to be sliced cold for sandwiches or to become the main ingredient of meat salads or casserole dishes.

To bake a smoked ham, place it fat side up on a rack in an open roasting pan. Insert the meat thermometer so the bulb reaches the center of the thickest part, taking care that the bulb does not rest in fat or on bone. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (300° F.) until the meat thermometer registers 160° F. Allow 18 to 20 minutes per pound for a whole ham, 22 to 25 minutes per pound for a half ham.

To give ham a festive appearance, many homemakers like to stud it with cloves and spread a glaze over it.

For an easily prepared and attractive glaze, mix together 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1/4 cup flour, 1 teaspoon dry mustard and 1/4 cup vinegar. Spread the glaze over the ham about 20 to 30 minutes before the ham is done. Return to oven to finish cooking and to set the glaze.

For a surprising flavor combination to accompany baked ham, serve banana sauce. To prepare this sauce mash 2 ripe bananas until smooth. Add 2/3 cup mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1 tablespoon horseradish and 2 teaspoons finely chopped parsley. Mix well. Serve with either hot or cold ham. This recipe makes 1 to 1 1/2 cups of sauce.

Gardener Reports Snakes Abundant In Jersey Area
JERSEYVILLE—Garter snakes were out in the open early this week, according to William Dugger who is employed as a yard man by a number of local residents.
Dugger reported that he killed nine garter snakes Monday, Mar. 19th, in the flower garden at the William Brookman residence on North State street. Other residents at the home had killed five of the reptiles earlier in the day.
Last spring a total of 69 of the same species of snakes were killed in the same locality, and observers are wondering why the reptiles return in the autumn to that particular spot to hibernate for the winter.
It has long been known that rattlesnakes in the western Jersey county bluff land areas would return to certain small caves in the rocks and hibernate in numbers. It was this fact that made it possible to practically exterminate the majority of this species in the area. Civilian Conservation Corps members of the days of the first administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt killed large numbers of rattlers in a planned campaign of extermination.

As I See It

by E. W. BROWN

Dr. Phillip Brooks says that the biggest problem today is that we're all in too much of a hurry. We are as jittery as a small boy listening to a piano recital in a hot room. Too often, patience is just another word in the dictionary. We have so much to do...

We tell a 5-year-old to stop jumping around, and act like a little man. It's a convenient thing to say... but he's still not a little man. He's a small boy. We'd like to speed up everything. We just can't wait for people, plans and things to develop naturally. And along the way we can miss a lot of living.

Toy manufacturers report that the most popular toy is still the toy six-shooter. We may be living in the Atomic Age... but our feet are still planted firmly in the Old West.

BANKING ON DEATH

BY EMMA LATHEN

THE STORY: Robert Schneider has been located, but he is dead. He was married two weeks ago.

Chapter 6
"Hasn't it occurred to you, Nicolls," Thatcher said with some asperity "that the murder of the heir to the $100,000 imposes some obligations upon the trustees."

"Frankly, I am at a loss as to what we do," Kenneth replied.

"So it seems. You young men are chained to your desks buying and selling. Acting as a trust officer is a far more demanding profession than that," Thatcher said severely.

Kenneth Nicolls was stung with the injustice of this. For two years at the Sloan, he thought with indignation, all he had been asked to do was to sit at his desk, buying and selling. It was not an unreasonable inference that this was what a trust officer did.

"I don't know," he said, "I've heard of trust officers in a tone of voice that had never before allowed himself to speak with his superior, but the Buffalo people don't know anything at all about the trust business, assuming that Robert Schneider himself had more or less forgotten about it."

"At any rate, we certainly should get in touch with the police," Miss Corsa said. "You to drop whatever you're doing right now and put through a call. To the Buffalo Police." He exchanged a mildly conspiratorial look with the young man sitting opposite him, but Miss Corsa did not rise to the bait. She acknowledged his request by nodding in silence.

Thatcher swiveled around to Nicolls. The boy, he thought, was beginning to look a little more alive. "Now Nicolls," he said crisply, "for the moment I want you to hand over your other accounts to Charlie Trinkam. He'll have to reassign them. You will concentrate on this Schneider trust. There are some questions that we are going to want answered in the fairly near future. He thought for a moment then inquired, "How is Mrs. Henderson, by the way?"

"Sinking rapidly," Kenneth answered.

"But still afloat," Thatcher said. "Why do the Schneiders bring out the worst in all of us?"

Kenneth rubbed his chin dubiously, but whatever comments he had to offer were interrupted when the telephone rang.

Thatcher answered. "Yes, Miss Corsa. . . . Captain Self? Well, but him, if you will? Good morning, Captain Self. This is John Thatcher, Sloan Guaranty Trust."

Kenneth began to feel the awkwardness common to third persons to a telephone conversation, when Thatcher waved him to the extension in the corner. As he picked up the phone the crackling turned into a deep, calm voice.

"That fits," said the voice of Self without any audible excitement. "Stan Michaels called us up last night. Said you'd called. Told us you were looking for him." He stopped talking and the line buzzed faintly, then he added, "What did you want him for?"

"He was the heir—or rather one of the heirs—of a trust that we administer," Thatcher said carefully. "We are going to be distributing the trust in the fairly near future."

As Thatcher explained the trust, Self remained silent. Then, in a completely detached voice, he asked for the names and addresses of the other heirs.

Replying that Mr. Nicolls could supply these, Thatcher listened as Ken spelled the names and addresses.

"Is there anything you can tell us about the circumstances of Schneider's death?" he asked the laconic policeman.

"Not much. He got hit on the head, but the body wasn't discovered until two or three days later."

"Do you have any idea of who or any suspects?" Thatcher asked.

"Plenty of them," Self said shortly. "Trouble is, that weekend was one of our big snowstorms. Everything was pretty much disrupted. Now," he said, clearly checking a list, "now we'll have to run a routine check on Arthur Schneider, Grace Walworth, and Martin Henderson."

"What we were wondering about here," Thatcher said, conscious of Nicolls eyeing him, "was something about Schneider. We've lost track of what he's been doing since 1945."

"What did you want to know?" Self asked.

"Marriage and children," Thatcher said concisely. "Any children of his would stand to inherit their father's share of the money."

Again there was silence on the line. Then Self's voice, more detached and calm than ever: "Schneider had a wife and two children. Two boys, seven and nine. They lived apart, separated but not divorced. Mrs. Schneider has the boys."

Bell Ringing Day Set For April 19 By Greene Legion

URBANA BENEFITS FROM CONTRACT

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Air Force has awarded a $3,814,985 contract to Menovox Corp., Fort Wayne, Ind., for production of 10,000 sets of radio sets. Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., was advised Thursday.

WHITE HALL — Robert Cunningham, commander of American Legion Post No. 70, has announced plans on April 19th, for a participation in a nation-wide demonstration of patriotism and national unity, which will be proclaimed by the ringing of bells in the city at 12 noon.

Mr. Cunningham announces that the American Legion, with the cooperation of other national organizations and associations, is urging this dramatic demonstration of a dynamic conviction concerning America's unity.

The following local organizations to participate in this worthwhile project by displaying their flags on April 19th, Lions Club, Jaycee Club, Veterans of Foreign Wars and their Auxiliaries, all churches and Scouts and any others desiring to do so.

The national commander, Charles L. Bacon of the American Legion, has appointed Adm. Arthur A. Burke, USN, Ret., to head up a "Bell-Across-the-Nation Committee" to which Commander Cunningham of this city has been appointed a personal representative of the Legion's national commander. The national committee seeks the organization of community committees throughout the United States to join in this nation-wide demonstration of national unity.

In announcing Admiral Burke's appointment, National Commander Bacon said, "We have been told by Nikita Khrushchev that the freedom which was born on July 4, 1776, is inevitably to be buried. I cannot believe that Americans will permit freedom to die, either by slow decay or by thermonuclear holocaust. However, I do believe that there is a need for the entire world to understand and to correctly assess America's commitment to freedom. Unless we can convince foreign governments that we mean what we say, that we cherish liberty today as greatly as did the founders of this nation, we take the terrible risk of war by miscalculation."

The national commander of the American Legion has urged the ringing of bells across the nation to give further emphasis of America's declaration of unity.

BOY SCOUT DRIVE AT WHITE HALL

WHITE HALL—A meeting was held Thursday night at the American Legion Home to plan the annual campaign for funds for the Boy Scout Drive now under way. Anyone wishing to contribute and not contacted, is asked to send their donation to Dale Black at Black's Chevrolet-Oldsmobile Agency, White Hall.

Scouting helps boys meet the demands and opportunities in this increasingly complex world. Three programs, for boys of three age levels, are designed to develop physical fitness, self-reliance, an obligation to God, a sense of personal responsibility, an attitude of service to others, and living a free way of life.

With the support of the finance campaign of the community of White Hall in the Honest Abe District of the Abraham Lincoln Council of the Boy Scouts of America, now under way, you are helping boys grow. Your contribution to this drive will be appreciated.

Suffering from a persecution complex supposedly handed him by writers, major league home run champion Roger Maris, known better as "Rude Roger" or "Mr. X," announced Friday that henceforth he will give no more interviews to the press.

Unable to understand the strange world that has made him their hero, the slugger said, "I'll be friendly, I'll talk to the writers about other things but no more interviews on baseball."

The home run hitter, by this shy remark may well have started the snowball rolling, which in the end will give journalists half its chance in Hades. It could possibly produce a school of Ed Murrows, Charles Collingswoods and Louella Parsons giving us our lifeblood through the nation's sporting organs.

Rogers Hornsby, in fanning the fire with Maris, has done nothing but give him a little of his own medicine, and from Maris' latest outburst he can't swallow it. Columnist Jim Murray gave a graphic example in the St. Louis Globe Democrat of what talk would develop between an interviewer and a celebrated sports personality.

All-America Game Pooh-Poohed

Action is being taken by members of the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations to prohibit their member schools from participating in the Wigwam Wisemen of America's All-America Football Classic contest which will be held some time in May.

Two area prep football players, Jim Cox of Bluffs and Bob Poncar of ISD were being considered for the game.

In some states it will be a violation of the state association's All-Star rule for any athletic director, coach, teacher or administrator of a high school in the state to help either directly or indirectly with the coaching, management, direction, selection of players, promotion or officiating of any all-star contest.

Teeth Protectors Required

At the recent meeting of the National Alliance Football Committee, governing junior college, intercollegiate and high school grid rules, the provision, which was a note in the 1961 rules book concerning oral mouth pieces, was adopted.

With the start of the 1962 football season "each player shall wear an intra-oral and tooth protector which includes both an occlusal and a labial portion." It was recommended that the protector be fitted to the individual by impressing the teeth into the protector itself or that it be constructed from a model made from an impression of the individual's teeth.

THE SECTIONAL TOURNAMENT

The Crimsons lost their sectional game Friday night. But they really put up a fight. Most of the Crimsons were sort of small. While all of the Senators were very tall. The first quarter was thirteen to four. The Crimsons just couldn't seem to score. Then the Crimsons began to go. But they couldn't stop Springfield's Marr and Monroe. To the Crimsons, the game was a big flop. But to me, the Crimsons still are tops!

IHSA To Keep Same Tourney Structure

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — If some states do not appear any changes are likely in the near future in the present overall setup of the Illinois Prep Basketball Tournament. While the Illinois High School Association is not resistant to change, Executive Secretary Albert Willis said Saturday, said association officials are "continually thinking of ways by which we can best serve the tournament's needs."

"If there were a demand on the part of the schools for a revision, we certainly would respect their wishes," he emphasized. "But there isn't any demand for a revision at the moment."

Willis was referring to the existing district, regional, sectional and final arrangement, and not to the controversial question of whether the Sweet 16 should be reinstated.

On that subject, Willis had no comment. But the current practice of sending only eight teams to Champaign was backed up by school principals throughout the state last year by more than a two-to-one majority.

Willis, who has been IHSA executive secretary 20 years, said association officials are "continually thinking of ways by which we can best serve the tournament's needs."

"If there were a demand on the part of the schools for a revision, we certainly would respect their wishes," he emphasized. "But there isn't any demand for a revision at the moment."

Griffith Nips Paret Regains World Championship

By MURRAY ROSE

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Pared-up Emile Griffith of New York stopped champion Benny (Kid) Paret of Cuba in the 12th round Saturday night and regained the world welterweight title.

A series of right-hand blows to the head staggered the 25-year-old Paret midway in the 12th and as he started to slump to the floor. Referee Ruby Goldstein stopped the fight at 2:09 of the round.

As Goldstein wrapped his arms around Griffith, the dazed Paret continued his slow slump to the floor. He collapsed on the canvas as the announcement of Griffith's victory was made.

A physician rushed into the ring to attend Paret. Then he was carried out of the ring on a stretcher. "It looks like a case of cerebral rigidity," said Dr. Harry Kleinman of the New York State Athletic Commission. "It could be a serious brain injury."

Paret, who had taken a severe beating although he had floored Griffith in the sixth round, didn't seem to have any pep at all in the 12th. He was sluggish and moving flatfootedly.

Griffith, eager to make up for his split decision defeat to Paret last Sept. 30, kept Paret against the ropes most of the fight.

Outside of the flash knockdown in the sixth round, the fight was dominated almost completely by the 25-year-old Virgin Island native. Griffith staggered the muscular Cuban in the fourth, fifth, seventh and tenth rounds and piled up a big margin on the scorecards of all of the officials. Griffith weighed 144, Paret 140 1/2.

Houk Defends X As Family Man And Team Player

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Manager Ralph Houk of the New York Yankees, speaking slowly and deliberately, defended his home-coming outfielder, Roger Maris, Saturday and also denied reports the world champions were split into anti-Maris and pro-Maris groups.

"Maris is a team player, a good family man and a good man on this baseball club and I think he will bat in 141 runs again this season. Roger is A-1 as far as the players and I are concerned," he emphasized.

Maris has been feuding with various members of the press and Thursday refused to pose with Rogers Hornsby, Hall of Fame player who now is a coach with the New York Mets of the National League. Maris reportedly refused because Hornsby last fall said that the outfielder was not a good hitter even though he stroked 61 home runs.

"Let Hornsby take care of his ball club and I'll take care of mine," said Houk. "I'm sorry that Hornsby called Maris a buster (after the posing incident) and said he was not a good hitter."

Cardinals Notch 7th Straight In 6-2 Win

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)

The St. Louis Cardinals reeled off their seventh straight exhibition baseball victory Saturday, beating the Minnesota Twins of the American League, 6-2.

Starter and winner Ray Washburn and three relievers checked the Twins on five hits. Don Lee and Bruce Swango of the Twins were walked for 14 hits by the Cards, including three by Minnie Minoso.

An error by Twins' shortstop Zoilo Versalles led in the go-ahead runs for St. Louis in the third inning. Center fielder Curt Flood of the Cards made a fence-climbing catch to rob Earl Battey of a home in the second as the Twins were bidding for a big inning.

CUBS SNAP 1-1 TIE TO DOWN INDIANS

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs broke a 1-1 tie with a run in the fifth inning and went on to defeat the Cleveland Indians 3-1 Saturday.

It was the Cubs' eighth Cactus League victory in 14 games. Don Cardwell, a hard-throwing right-hander, went eight innings and received credit for his third straight victory without a defeat.

Lefty Dick Stigman lasted six innings for the Indians, striking out 10 and walking two. It was Stigman's throwing error that enabled Chicago to tie the game in the fourth.

Rookie outfielder Nels Mathews padded the Chicago advantage with a home run over the center-field fence off reliever Art Kay in the eighth.

We Showed 'Em-Jucker

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—"We showed them tonight we're the nation's No. 1 college basketball team," said Cincinnati Coach Ed Jucker after his Bearcats mauled Ohio State, 71-59, to win their second straight national collegiate basketball title.

"This is a real great satisfaction to me and the boys," he said Saturday night. "Everyone thought it was a fluke when we beat Ohio State last year for the title. We had a point to prove when we started out tonight and we proved it."

In last year's finals, Cincinnati defeated Ohio State 70-65, in overtime.

Jucker has contended all season his Bearcats, co-champions of the powerful Missouri Valley Conference, were not getting the credit they deserved.

Asked what made the difference in the game, Jucker said, "I thought we stymied their feeding game and had them standing still. This proves defense has a big place in basketball. When our team plays defense, we play offense."

Barnes' 6 Second Free Throw Gives Reds 49-48 Victory

By JOE MOOSHIL

Rap McLeansboro With Little Mercy

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Quincy's

Blue Devils scored to an 85-45 victory over McLeansboro Saturday night to finish third in the Illinois State High School Basketball Tournament.

Showing little mercy for the last of Southern Illinois teams in the tournament, Quincy overcame an early 4-3 deficit on a couple of baskets by 5-8 Fred Grinnett and turned the game into a rout.

The Blue Devils, led by Grinnett and Ken Wilson, whipped into a 17-8 lead at the quarter and boosted it to 40-21 at the half.

Rick Rineberg took over with a hot hand in the third quarter, pumping in two quick baskets for Quincy and later adding a three-point play before McLeansboro could hit the scoring column in the second half.

Both teams turned reserves in the third quarter but by the time the period ended, Quincy had piled up a commanding 62-32 lead.

Quincy scored seven more points in the first two minutes of the final quarter and it became a question of how high the final count would climb.

With the exception of McLeansboro's Jim Burns, both coaches cleared their benches and let the reserves carry the action near the end. Jim Burns, who had an excellent chance of being the tournament's leading scorer, finished with 22 points for a sweet sixteen total of 85 points. He fouled out early in the fourth quarter.

Quincy had a more balanced attack with Grinnett and Rineberg sharing honors with 16 each.

I Thought I'd Hit It —Barnes

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Despite the pressure, Ken Barnes said he was confident he was going to make the free throw that gave Decatur its 49-48 victory over Carver and the Illinois prep basketball title Saturday night.

"I wasn't nervous or anything. I thought I could make it," said the 6-3 Decatur star. He said for the season he sank about 75 per cent of his free throws.

The Decatur players trooped calmly into the dressing room, in contrast to the customary whooping and jubilation of a state coach John Schneider said it wasn't unusual for his boys to be that way.

Russell Is MVP Second Straight Year In NBA Loop

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Bill Russell, 6-foot-10 defensive and rebounding wizard of the Boston Celtics, was named the most valuable player in the National Basketball Association for the second straight year Saturday.

Selection of Russell was made by a 27-man committee representing the United States Basketball Writers Association. The committee was composed of three writers in each of the nine NBA cities.

Russell received 19 first-place votes and a total of 283 points on the basis of 12 points for first, 7 for second, 6 for third, etc. He finished more than 100 points ahead of Philadelphia's 50-point-a-game scorer, Wilt Chamberlain. Chamberlain, the 1960 winner, drew five first-place votes and 174 points. Oscar Robertson of the Cincinnati Royals was third with three first-place votes and 160 points.

Notre Dame Nips Syracuse, 17-15 —Officially

NEW YORK (AP) — It's official now — Notre Dame beat Syracuse, 17-15, last Nov. 18. That's what the NCAA record book will show, and without an asterisk.

NCAA officials here said both schools agree on the outcome of the game, a source of dispute for several weeks after Notre Dame kicked the winning field goal after time had run out.

"Notre Dame's questionnaire listed the game as a win, Syracuse's as a loss," an NCAA official said. "So that's the way it will go into the book, without any footnote."

ST. LOUIS POINTER WINNER OF AMERICA ALL-AGE TRIALS

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Stormy Tempest, a pointer owned by Dr. W. O. Arney and S. W. Hart, both of St. Louis, was announced today as winner of the American all-age championships sponsored by the Crab Orchard Field Trials Club.

Runnerup in the week-long field trial, in which 31 dogs were entered, was Blue Diamond Belle, owned by Mrs. Roger Lord of St. Louis.

Stormy Tempest was handled by Gene Lundford of Somerville, Tenn., and Blue Diamond Belle by Howard Kirk of Panama, Ala. Winner of the All-American derby championship, for dogs two years old or younger, was Camelot, owned by S. H. Vredenberg of Montgomery, Ala., and handled by John S. Gates of Leesburg, Ga. Twenty-two dogs were entered in this event.

Blast Bucks, 71-59 With Lucas Slowed

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The mighty Cincinnati, with Paul Hogue playing rings around ailing Jerry Lucas, crushed Ohio State in their long awaited rematch Saturday night, 71-59, and won the national collegiate basketball championship for the second straight year.

Wake Forest won third place, edging UCLA, 82-80, in the opener of the showdown doubleheader before 18,469.

Hogue, a 6-foot-8, 240-pounder, was facing a Lucas considerably under form as a result of the sprained left knee the Buckeye ace suffered in Friday night's semifinals. But it's doubtful that even a 100 per cent Lucas would have made any difference.

The Bearcats of Ed Jucker, who shocked the basketball world by beating Ohio State, 70-65, in overtime in the title game last year at Kansas City, played it almost all the way with their wonderfully cohesive unit of Hogue, Tommy Thacker, Ray Bonham, George Wilson and Tony Yates.

Still it was Hogue who made the difference this time, the first time two schools ever met in successive years for the NCAA championship.

Hogue scored 22 points and did a tremendous job on the boards, both on offense and defense. This combined with the jump shooting of Thacker and the high pressure defense and ball hawking of the Bearcats, made the outcome never in doubt after a 37-29 halftime lead.

The pressure began to tell on Ohio State as time ticked away. The Bearcats poured it on, leading by as many as 20 points before a late Buckeye rally cut down the final margin.

Making it two championships in two years of coaching for Jucker, the Bearcats pushed their season record to 29-2 and wound up winning their last 18 games. Ohio State finished 32-2.

Lucas, the three-time All-American and player of the year the last two seasons, hit only five of 17 shots and scored 11 points. His left knee was heavily bandaged. All-American Len Chappell did the heavy job again for Wake Forest with 26 points.

Billy Packer and Dave Wiedeman, the Deacons' fine backcourt pair, combined for 40 other Wake Forest points — Packer getting 22 and Wiedeman 18. Gary Cunningham and Fred Slaughter each had 17 and Walter Hazzard had 15 for UCLA.

Tappe Head Coach For Cubs' Opener

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — The Chicago Cubs' head coach for the National League opener at Houston April 10 will be 32-year-old Elvin Tappe, but where the club's managerless wheel stops, still nobody knows.

Vice President John Holland Saturday announced Tappe's somewhat expected appointment to take command at the start of the Cubs' second no-manager season.

Holland also disclosed that three others from the team's 10-coach staff would be on the top level board with Tappe, including newcomer Charlie Metro, Lou Klein and Goldie Holt.

The quartet, effective Saturday, is in charge of the Cubs while simultaneously relegated to brain-trusting the Bruin minor league operations are Charlie Grimm, Viedie Himsel, Fred Martin, Bobby Adams, Rip Collins and Vernon Walker.

Holland, who shares Cub vice presidency with Grimm and 84-year-old Clarence (Pants) Rowland, explained that while Tappe will start as head coach, the duty will be rotated again during the season, excluding pitching coaches.

Last season, first in owner P. K. Wrigley's novel experiment to eliminate a manager, head coaching stints were handled by Harry Craft, now manager of the new Houston Colts, Tappe, Klein and Himsel. The Cubs wound up seventh for the second successive year with 64-90.

Holland conceded Saturday's announcement was made to spite rumors Wrigley might return the Cubs to managerial reins.

Celtics Humble Warriors, 117-89

BOSTON (AP) — The brilliant Boston Celtics, led by Bill Russell and Bob Cousy, humiliated cold-shooting Philadelphia 117-89 Saturday in the opener of the National Basketball Association Eastern Division playoff finals.

With Russell doing a defensive masterpiece on Wilt Chamberlain and Cousy gunning the patented Celtics fast break, Boston settled the contest early as it launched the defense of its world title.

Yorktown 4th In Campbell Race

BOWIE, Md. (AP) — George D. Widenor's Yorktown ran his undefeated 1962 racing record to four Saturday by coming up on the rail in the last sixteenth of a mile to cop the $115,900 Campbell Handicap.

Yorktown nipped the 8-5 favorite Globemaster by 1 1/2 lengths for the first prize of $75,335 in a three-year finish with Calumet Farm's Beau Prince.

Enjoying the thrilling finish among the crowd of 20,269 was Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, his wife and two daughters. Yorktown paid $12.80, $5.60 and $4. Globemaster returned $3.60 and $2.40 and Beau Prince $6.

Yorktown ran the mile and sixteenth in 1:43 and 4-5 on a fast track.

Dayton Captures NIT; Ends Bridesmaid Role

NEW YORK (AP) — Dayton ended a long string of frustrations Saturday by winning the National Invitation Basketball Tournament with a powerful 73-67 victory over St. John's of New York.

The exciting final was played before a Madison Square Garden crowd of 16,037 after Loyola of Chicago had beaten Duquesne 95-84 for third place.

Dayton, a five-time runner-up in nine previous NIT's, was led to its first triumph by sophomores Bill Chmielewski and Gordy Hatton. Chmielewski, completely out-playing St. John's' vaunted Leroy Ellis, spearheaded the Flyers into control of the game and Hatton applied the clincher in the closing minutes.

Dayton pushed ahead by 11 points midway in the second half but saw the lead dwindle to five with 7:18 to go. Then Hatton, a 6-foot guard, put on his clutch performance with 11 of Dayton's final 13 points. He finished with 18 points.

Chmielewski, a 6-foot-10, 235-pounder, was named the tournament's most valuable player. He scored 24 points for a four-game total of 107.

Ellis scored 22 points for the Redmen, hitting only five of 16 from the floor but clicking on 12 of 13 free throws. Kevin Loughery was high man with 26 points for St. John's, which has won the NIT title three times in 16 appearances.

Casper Leads Doral With Five-Under-Par

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Bill Casper, returning to golf's money competition after a rest, fired the finest round of the $50,000 Doral Country Club Open Saturday and forged to the front at the half-way mark.

A five-under-par 67 lifted Casper into the lead with 137 when the first-day leaders, Bobby Nichols and Jack Nicklaus, faltered. Nichols scored to a 77 for 143 and Nicklaus posted a 74 for 143.

Bob Gosby fired a 69 Saturday to move up to second place with 139.

In a tie for third place at the day's end were Arnold Palmer and Tommy Bolt with 142. Nicklaus and Red Baxter, the only other players in the big field still standing better than par, were tied for fifth.

Casper, the 12th ranking money winner of the last 15 years, had been off the tour for five weeks, taking it easy at his San Diego home. He posted a two-under-par 70 in the first round despite gusty winds.

Tied for seventh place with par scores of 144 were Paul Bonde, Jim Ferree, Ted Kroll, Phil Rodgers and Tommy Jacobs.

Unable to better the cutoff point and advance into the third round were Bob Rosburg, the year's fourth highest money winner; Jack Fleck, former U.S. Open champion; Joe Campbell, winner of this year's tournament at Baton Rouge; Stan Leonard, eight-time Canadian PGA champion, and Johnny Pott, the sixth highest money winner of 1961.

Panel Programs For Education Of The Public

By Estelene Mitchell, R.N.

Educational programs presented during Nurse Week, March 18-24, bring out the fact that nurses are constantly trying to raise standards of their profession.

Education of the patient and family of the patient with diabetes, stroke or other disabling diseases is an example of community teaching done by nurses. This is one of the changes in the functions of nursing to meet the needs of the community.

By reading professional journals, attending institutes and conferences, nurses learn new methods and techniques being developed and how they may apply the knowledge to the care of their patients.

Nurses, working through their professional organization, the American Nurses' Association, set standards for nurse practitioners to meet defining what nurses should be doing, what qualifications are required for the best service as general duty, public health work, private duty and nursing service in industry, doctors' offices and other locations needing professional nurses.

Nurses are concerned with standards which should measure quality of nursing in such places as hospitals and nursing homes. A.N.A. nurses have tried to see that standards set by law and by professional bodies are met in actual practice.

Check day was carried out during the week to promote a check of licenses by all employers of nurses in this area. This was done with the protection of the public in mind. Every professional nurse must pass a State examination before she is allowed to practice as a registered nurse and she must renew her license every year. Check day was a means of determining if every nurse practicing as a professional nurse is qualified to do so.

In this way, assurance is given to the public that each professional nurse is competent to give safe nursing care.

A change in existing laws, governing the practice of the professional nurse, is being sought by A.N.A. nurses. When the legislature convenes in 1963 the public will be more aware of the need for changes by information being provided by the State and National Associations.

Mrs. Koppelman Tells Lutheran Guild Of Tour

On March 19, the Guild of Salem Lutheran church met in the school hall to commemorate its 9th anniversary. Mrs. L. L. Omundson, chairman, presided and extended a cordial welcome to many guests.

A trio, Mrs. Leon Gierke, Mrs. Gerald Cook and Mrs. Pat Mahoney sang "Lord, I Hear the Voice of Heaven," and "Hark! The Voice of Jesus Crying," accompanied by Mrs. Roy Lovekamp. Brief devotions were led by Pastor H. C. Rose.

Mrs. Gerald Cook, introduced the speaker, Mrs. Lucille Koppelman, the wife of Dr. Herman H. Koppelman, executive secretary of World Missions of the Lutheran Church — Missouri Synod. Mrs. Koppelman spoke of her trip to see missionaries at work and in their homes. She stated there are 156 missionaries on the staff.

Mrs. Koppelman, with vivid and outstanding description orally took the group on tour of the Eastern Hemisphere.

One is stricken with the poverty which exists in India. In comparison with our average annual income of $2,500, theirs is $65. Rice is the main crop. Ox carts, herds of water buffalo and women with heavy containers on their heads dominate the scene.

The homes in India consist of four walls of dried mud blocks, grass roof, and dirt floor.

The government of India is Hindu and is not receptive to Christianity. At the present time Christians comprise only 2 or 3% of the population. Briefly, Mrs. Koppelman told of Japan with its less than 1% Christian population. Also of the Philippine Islands with its masses of very poor people. Two-thirds of the population never have sufficient food.

The tour concluded with New Guinea. She stated in 1948 two young American couples direct from the Seminary went to New Guinea.

The pig is the barter of trade, even for a wife. One can readily appreciate the trials missionaries had before they could communicate with the natives.

Members were led in the pledge to the flag and the Junior Pledge. Miss Connie Sue Schaefer presented three piano selections that were greatly enjoyed by the group.

Dr. James Hea, of Beardstown, the speaker for the evening, dealt with the subject of "Uterine Cancer." Many great strides have been made in this field and Dr. Hea stressed the importance of annual checkups for all women.

Mrs. Eddie Johnson, secretary, called the roll and read the minutes of the previous meeting.

Treasurer, Mrs. Ernest Launer, reported on the club funds. A letter was read from the Roodhouse-White Hall Club inviting the local club to the 20th District Junior banquet to be held in White Hall on March 28.

Model Garments

Mrs. Reginald Jokisch, American Home chairman, introduced to the members Miss Kathleen Finn and Miss Carol Reitermann of the local high school who modeled the ensembles they had made to enter in the Vogue Sewing Contest, which is an annual event sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Miss Finn wore a pink dacron dress with white accessories while Miss Reitermann modeled a blue wool suit with bone accessories. Judges at the District contest in Jacksonville selected Miss Finn as one of the top winners in the Student Division and she will attend the District Convention in San Jose on April 2. The Virginia Juniors sponsored Miss Finn and the local Senior Club sponsored Miss Reitermann. Both organizations are indeed proud of the girls for jobs well done.

It was decided by the members to hold a ward party for 50 patients at the Jacksonville State Hospital, Thursday evening, Mar. 23. Mrs. Michael Derrick was placed in charge of the party. Club members are asked to look through their belongings and find good usable items such as jewelry, ladies handbags, etc., to Mrs. Derrick's home to be used as prizes for the patients. Luncheon Plans honoring former Queens of the Beaux Arts and former attendants to Queens are being made by a special committee. Above, Mrs. Arthur Lauff, left, discusses with chairman, Mrs. Arthur J. French, the reunion festivity. The third member of the committee is Mrs. Clarendon Smith.

The Luncheon will be at 12:30 o'clock the afternoon of Saturday, April 28th, in the Terrace Room, Hotel Dunlap. Notification of the completed plans will be sent by mail to the respective girls shortly after the first of next month.

Dorcas Circle Of Grace Meets At Olson Home

The Dorcas Circle of the Grace Methodist Church met with Mrs. Edwin Olson, 269 Finley, Wednesday March 21, at 2 o'clock. Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Cass Hamm, Mrs. Lawrence Watson, and Mrs. Guy Emory.

The meeting was opened by the chairman, Mrs. Kruse. All present sang "Onward Christian Soldiers" accompanied by Mrs. Gail Gilbert on the electric organ.

Seventeen members answered to roll call and one guest was present. The minutes of the February meeting were read and approved. Mrs. Lester Reid, acting treasurer, gave the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Kruse made the following announcements — Lenten Service each Thursday morning, at 10 o'clock at the Trinity Church. A luncheon is to be served by the Electa Circle, April 11. Tickets may be purchased from any member of the circle or at the church office.

Mrs. Eggenberger, program chairman, presented Mrs. W. E. Hall, who introduced Miss Young Nan Ro, from Korea, a student at MacMurray College. The speaker discussed the Missionary and Christianity in Korea. The discussion was most interesting and greatly enjoyed by all present. Miss Young Nan Ro, closed the meeting by repeating the Korean Lord's Prayer.

Following adjournment the guests were served delicious refreshments by the hostesses.

Paper Is Subject Before Household Science Club

The Household Science Club met Mar. 20th at the home of Mrs. Ernest Stout with Mrs. Tildan Stout assisting. Mrs. Ivan Garrison, president, conducted the meeting. Minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. Hugh Green, and Mrs. Harvey Green gave the treasurer's report. Twenty members responded to roll with "what I like to read."

Mrs. Jewel Mann, program chairman, presented Mrs. Harvey Green whose subject was Adventures with Paper. A display of Hallmark paper and table decorations, through the courtesy of Andes Candies, was a nice addition to the program.

Mrs. Green said in part, "What the wire conductor is to electricity, paper is to knowledge, the medium without which its wide conveyance and use would be impossible. Without paper, introduced about the same time, the invention of printing would have been useless and the very existence of such a republic as the United States, impossible. Without cheap and plentiful paper its citizens, ignorant of one another's thoughts and desires, could never act together. Paper is a bond stronger than steel in the free countries today."

The making of paper was discussed and its expansion into the huge industry of today. Content of paper was itemized from the cheaper grade to the finest of literary papers. Paper-mache and its many uses were discussed. Mrs. Norma Stout displayed several articles from this material.

The speaker told of the use now of disposable clothing in laboratories, such as hospital gowns, smocks and coveralls, etc., even

Hospital Chaplain Speaks To Tuesday Club

Mrs. James Armitage entertained members of Tuesday Club at her home Mar. 20th. No. Nine Jones Place. The hostess as president conducted the business session.

Mrs. Charles Gibson, program chairman, graciously presented Mrs. Dallas Hagan. This was annual Bible Day and Mrs. Hagan introduced Rev. Darwin Clupper, Chaplain at Jacksonville State Hospital, to address the club. Rev. Clupper was for many years a Navy Chaplain and has been at the local State Hospital four years. He told of the literature disseminated there from the American Bible Society, sometimes local churches also taking reading material. The speaker told the group that a Chaplain is the one person a patient at the Hospital may speak to and the conversation not become a matter of record.

Mrs. Samuel Darley concluded the program with news flashes after which the hostess served delicious refreshments.

THE BAND UNIFORM FUND of the Jacksonville Schools Band and Orchestra Parents Association received its first outside contribution in its current drive for $9,000 from the Jacksonville Junior Woman's Club. Above Mrs. Martin Newman, center, ways and means chairman, receives from Mrs. Robert Adams, right, club treasurer and Mrs. Roy Mason, Jr., left, president, a check for $276.95. The amount represents profits from a recent club sponsored card party and style show, one of many civic activities of the Juniors during their club year.

No Game For Amateurs

From two totally different quarters, men who make a specialty of studying communism are beginning to suggest that we have too many self-styled "experts" on the subject.

One is FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, whose credentials in this field hardly need emphasis.

The other is Father John F. Cronin, assistant director of the National Catholic Welfare Conference's Department of Social Action. "Communism: Threat to Freedom," his second book in the field, is drawing deserved attention.

In the American Bar Assn. Journal, Hoover says:

"Today far too many self-styled experts on communism are plying the highways of America, giving erroneous and distorted information.

"This causes hysteria, false alarms, and misplaced apprehension by many of our citizens.

"We need enlightenment about communism, but this information must be factual, accurate, and not tailored to echo personal idiosyncracies."

Father Cronin, in his new book, likewise cautions Americans to be wary of the self-appointed specialists, including some whose credentials look pretty satisfactory at a hasty glance.

In this category he would place some former agents of the FBI itself, some former FBI informants, and certain persons who have had first-hand contact with Communists as either party members or victims.

Cronin argues that unless a former FBI man specialized in subversion, his agency experience does not qualify him as an expert. The value of one-time informants would be considerable, he suggests, only where they were placed close to top Red sources in years more recent than 1955. Things change fast.

As for defectors or victims, the measuring rod is much the same. The big questions are how up-to-date and accurate their information is. Like Hoover, Cronin thinks much of it old and misleading.

This is not the first time the FBI chief has spoken out on this matter. A year ago, in a message to law enforcement officers in the United States, he said Americans need to understand communism, but added:

"This cannot be achieved by dawdling at the spring of knowledge. It can only be accomplished by dipping deeply into thoughtful, reliable and authoritative source of information."

Next time you see somebody get up and offer himself as an expert on communism, find out just how solid his background is, and how current his information.

And remember that you have some quite unassailable specialists standing, in effect, at your shoulder and advising such caution.

Seeing Is Believing—

It can hardly startle free Westerners that a commission of inquiry initiated by world educators finds the Communist wall an interference in Berlin's educational life.

More significant from our viewpoint is that of the three-member commission, one is an African from Kenya, another a native of Asiatic Malaya.

We hear all too often today that

Asians and Africans do not appreciate the gravity of the Communist menace because they do not know it first-hand. These two educators saw it in full ugliness, as it viciously distorts the education of young East Berliners and as it has driven thousands of teachers to seek escape.

Let us hope the story is well told in Africa and Asia.

Take It From Ann

"Teens and Beaux" Complex Time For Mother-Daughter Relations

LANDERS

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 17-year-old girl who will never be able to understand mothers. Maybe you can help. Several girls friends feel just as I do. We would like to know if it is us or our mothers who are at fault.

Mothers are always complaining because their daughters don't confide in them. They feel hurt when we take our troubles to "an outsider." They claim they "want" to be close to us, but what happens when we try to confide?

We are laughed at. I was having trouble with my 10th friend last week and decided to talk to my mother. I tried to explain the problem as best I could. She seemed very amused. Then in the middle of my story she began to laugh. She called me a silly kid and said I sounded like a nine-year-old. I was so crushed I began to cry and ran to my room.

I will never go to my mother for advice again. I wouldn't take a chance of getting my feelings hurt this way. Please print my letter or in the paper. Ann. Maybe it will help other mothers understand why their daughters don't confide in them. —SHARON

Dear Sharon: I sympathize with you and agree that your mother missed a good opportunity to provide moral support at a time when you needed it. But you may be overlooking another side to the story.

Philosophers know that comedy and tragedy are not far apart — just as laughter and tears are often separated by a whisper. Perhaps your mother was trying to get you to see the humor in your problem. A good laugh can take the sting out of misery.

No pleasure should be too hard on Mother. It could be that she wasn't laughing "at" you—she may have botched a valiant attempt to persuade you to laugh at yourself.

Dear Ann Landers: Frequently in your column you say "Anecdotes Anonymous can help you."

My mother and I are in a bit of a bind. I am sure it has helped thousands, but what can a woman do about a husband who refuses to seek help?

I am married to a man who is a drunk. He has lost one good job after another because of his drinking. I could fill a book with stories about the shame and humiliation he has brought on his family. Yet he claims liquor is his problem to him, and that he can stop drinking anytime he wants to. What can I do for such a man? —BLACK DEUCE

Dear Black Deuce: Nothing is impossible to help people who don't want to be helped. An alcoholic who goes A. A. must accept the program. One of the first steps a new member of A. A. must take is to admit that he cannot drink "like other people." He must admit that liquor is poison to him and that he cannot handle even one drop.

If a man (or a woman) alcoholic refuses to help himself, he deserves to be told "Goodbye and good luck. Let me know when you are ready to be a self-respecting human being."

Dear Ann Landers: My sister and I each have four children. Whenever one of her children graduated from high school we gave him a $5.00 bill. They did the same for ours.

Last June our oldest son graduated from college. He did not receive a gift from them. In my opinion a college graduation is more important than a high school graduation. He was very disappointed.

In the Spring their third son graduated from high school. Should we give him $5.00? —UN-DECIDED

Dear Undecided: Since all of our high school graduates received $5.00, this one should, too.

As for the "disappointed" college graduate, if he never experiences a greater disappointment than "this" he'll be darned lucky.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for "Ann Landers' book," "Teenage Smoking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problem. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

GOP Hand-Carves Policy

For Upcoming Elections

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The 1962 Joint Committee on Republican Principles is dubbed here as the 12 GOP disciples in search of a political gospel they can all agree on and then go out and preach in the coming congressional election campaign.

On the committee are six senators and six representatives, with Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Marshfield, Wis., as chairman and Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, as vice chairman. The committee is nicely balanced with House and Senate pairs from right, left and center.

It has already become apparent that whatever statement of principles is drawn up will have to be pretty much of a middle-of-the-road doctrine. If it is anything else, it will be a repudiation of the Eisenhower program. And the Republicans aren't ready for that, yet.

There is some informed guessing that the 1962 statement of Republican principles may have to avoid altogether any mention of the much-disputed party split between the progressives and ultra-conservatives.

This might make the statement a pretty wishy-washy affair. But as one party stalwart observes, "When this comes out, we may want conservative Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and liberal Sen. Jake Javits of New York to sing in chorus. While there are some good things here that I don't agree with fully, it is a good statement and I endorse it without reservation."

To this end the statement will deal only in general principles, not specifics. There won't be a detailed farm program spelled out, for instance. In foreign policy, it won't say exactly how the Republicans would deal differently with Cuba, or Viet Nam or the Berlin situation.

How specifically the statement will criticize the Kennedy administration programs hasn't even been discussed. But the Republicans must appeal to conservative Democrats if they are to be converted into voting GOP.

The idea now is to make it a short document like the 1950 GOP statement which ran to 2,700 words, or the 1946 statement which was held to 1,400. The late Sen. Robert A. Taft had a hand in drafting them, but they were approved word-by-word while Republican Senate and House caucuses remained in simultaneous and continuous session.

Most people have forgotten about these earlier Republican congressional statements of principles. But they are the precedent and pattern for the 1962 political pitch.

One thing is sure. This 1962 document won't be another 45,000-word job like the 40-member Republican Committee on Program and Progress, under Chairman Charles H. Percy put together in 1960. It had White House and Republican National Committee support, and cost several hundred thousand dollars. But it was a political dud.

GOP National Committee Chairman William E. Miller of New York sat in on the first meeting when the 1962 committee was set up. While he was not made a member of the group, it is noteworthy that the executive chairman of this committee of 12 congressmen is Dr. William F. Pendleton, research director for the GOP National Committee. He operates from its offices.

Many of the top Eisenhower administration officials are being consulted.

Former Sec. of State Christian A. Herter and U. S. Amb. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. are being asked to advise on foreign policy. Former Sec. of Labor James P. Mitchell and Health, Education and Welfare Sec. Arthur S. Flemming will advise on employment and social security matters. Eisenhower's economic advisers Gabriel Hauge and Don Paarlberg will be consultants on business and agriculture.

The committee's final statement of principles may not be completed before June. There is a Republican National Committee meeting scheduled for Seattle, June 11. It might conceivably endorse the Republican congressmen's statement of principles then, for use in the campaign.

In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Found: Something to scare television's horse opera heroes. It's Japanese crowds.

Clint Eastwood and Eric Fleming, a couple of 6-foot-4 giants, have faced just about every kind of hazard in four years of starring in CBS' "Rawhide." But they hadn't seen anything until they went to Japan recently for a good-will trip at the behest of the Japanese sponsor (a whiskey maker).

"I thought I didn't scare easily," said Clint. "I've appeared at rodeos and on the Dick Clark television show where you get crowds that are pretty wild. But nothing like Japan."

"When you've got 12 girls hanging onto you, and not one of them willing to let go, then you've got a problem."

Their arrival at the Tokyo Airport brought 8,000 fans—the Japanese are wild over Westerners, and have been exposed to "Rawhide" for two years.

"There was a bit of delay, because the police wanted our sponsor to put up a bond for extra police protection charges," said Eric.

TIME OF YOUR LIFE

Ask For Card
'OAR 7004'

By ARTHUR LORD

DEAR ARTHUR: I am an "old man, school teacher." I guess I was born to be. But I really enjoy teaching school and the long vacations, too. During the summer vacations, I usually travel or work in a resort, defense factory, or library.

When I retire in a few years, will Social Security pay me anything for these summer jobs? I'd also like to find out more about the number of quarters for which I have been given credit. —MARGARET M.

DEAR MARGARET: Telephone, write, or visit your local Social Security office. Ask for card "OAR 7004." Fill in the card and add at the top: "How many quarters do I have?" Send it to Social Security Administration, Baltimore, Md.

The reply will tell you how many quarters you have, how many you need for retirement benefits, and total record of your earnings under Social Security.

DEAR ARTHUR: Several years ago a lawyer friend of ours convinced me that it was advisable to make out a will. We didn't have very much money and property then (we still don't), but he showed us how having a will would save us money and lots of legal troubles. Our lawyer friend no longer lives in town. How often is it advisable to update our will? —JOHN AND SALLY

DEAR FRIENDS: Update your will only if it fails to reflect your current desires regarding the disposition of your estate. But if gift and estate tax laws change, you may want to revise it to take advantage of changes.

DEAR ARTHUR: Lidia always dominates everything we do in our Harvest Years Club. I never knew people could be like she is. She volunteers to lead all group activities and is forever bossing us. What can we do about her? —JOYCE H.

DEAR JOYCE: Many Harvest Year and Golden Age clubs have their Lidias.

When people who have been rather inactive and somewhat excluded come together in an unfamiliar group, they are easily dominated by an aggressive person. Lidia is an aggressive gal. You can't change her, but you sure can put her in her place. When there is a chance to volunteer for something, you and your friends should volunteer. When there is a chance to express opinions, make sure that Lidia is not the only one heard.

Lidia is nothing more than a little dictator. But dictators cannot survive when there is active and outspoken opposition.

Please send your questions and comments to me, Arthur Lord, in care of this paper. I will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Q—Is there any vitamin C in canned pineapple?

A—Yes. One-half cup canned pineapple with syrup will supply about 17 per cent of the amount of vitamin C necessary every day. But ½ cup of fresh pineapple may supply about 34 per cent of your daily requirement of vitamin C.

Q—Aren't milk and cheese constipating?

A—No. According to "Modern Diet and Nutrition," by Dr. Henrietta Fleck and Dr. Elizabeth Munves, "Many people hold tenaciously to the idea that milk and cheese are constipating. These foods in themselves do not have this effect; rather the condition is due to the fact that the diet is lacking in foods containing

In a fine tribute to her father, Woodrow Wilson, his daughter Eleanor Wilson MacAdoo wrote, "Even when I was a little child I was conscious that I was I because of him." This understanding of the strength of a heritage also flooded the prayer of the old Scotch divine who asked, "Lord, help me to have a high regard for myself."

The need for human dignity has never been more required of an age than in our own time.

The experience of Col. John Glenn once more underscores the possible tallness of mankind in the limited dimensions of the space capsule. In the demanding, and frequently limiting, experiences of out jet-speed world we are not meaningless automatons. We are persons, who are responsible for our decisions.

We are to weigh, to balance, to choose, to discriminate, to desire, to hope, to aspire.

In this sense every person is capable of heroism, for each individual plays a certain role in some remarkable action in a possibly admirable way. To do this is to be the hero or to "have a high regard for oneself." So St. Paul would call to the scattered little congregations of Christian people, reminding them that they were of the household of God.

Canned Pineapple Nourishes

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Is there any vitamin C in canned pineapple?

A—Yes. One-half cup canned pineapple with syrup will supply about 17 per cent of the amount of vitamin C necessary every day. But ½ cup of fresh pineapple may supply about 34 per cent of your daily requirement of vitamin C.

Q—Aren't milk and cheese constipating?

A—No. According to "Modern Diet and Nutrition," by Dr. Henrietta Fleck and Dr. Elizabeth Munves, "Many people hold tenaciously to the idea that milk and cheese are constipating. These foods in themselves do not have this effect; rather the condition is due to the fact that the diet is lacking in foods containing

A GLANCE Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Orville E. Hodge of Granite City stopped in Jacksonville Monday while campaigning for state auditor. He is a farmer and banker and in the building, real estate and insurance business.

Nelson Nunes of Jacksonville and St. Louis has filed suit against Sheriff Earl Hembrough for the recovery of the portable hog house that was stolen 10 days ago from the bonded warehouse of the Jacksonville Transfer & Storage Co.

Richard Y. Gibson, retired Weaverly farmer, died Monday.

Wild Animals Become Reservoir For Rabies

URBANA—For the first time wild animals are becoming a more important source of rabies than domestic animals, according to Dr. George T. Woods, University of Illinois public health veterinarian.

Of the 163 rabies cases reported in Illinois last year, 126 involved wildlife. Of this number, 95 were skunks.

The number of rabid skunks is alarming because of the growing popularity of skunks as pets. During 1961, there were about 21,000 pet skunks in the United States. Authorities say this number is increasing 10 to 15 percent each year.

"These figures illustrate the increasing risk of people getting rabies," Dr. Woods said, "because most pet skunks are taken from the wild. They are seldom pen-raised."

Direct contact is no longer the only means of getting rabies, however. Research indicates that airborne transmission of rabies is possible in caves populated by rabid bats. Scientists began studying this possibility after several people who had no history of animal bites died from rabies. In each case the person had spent a great amount of time in a bat-infested cave.

In testing this theory, scientists housed dogs, cats, foxes, coyotes, raccoons and skunks in impenetrable cages and placed these cages in a cave filled with bats. All coyotes and foxes died from airborne rabies.

According to Dr. Woods, some wild animals are more susceptible to rabies than others. Tests indicate that opossums are extremely resistant to rabies. Raccoons are less resistant, followed by skunks and then foxes. Dogs are the most susceptible of the five animals.

Although skunks are more resistant to infection than foxes, they shed more virus once they are infected, Dr. Woods says. This means that an epidemic in skunks will last longer than an epidemic in foxes, making skunks potentially the more dangerous carriers.

Because of the increasing danger of wild animals, including bats, spreading rabies to man, livestock or pets, veterinarians urge the following precautions:

1. Stay away from wild animals who act strangely or appear friendly. Wild animals instinctively avoid people unless they are ill.
2. If you own a dog or cat, protect it and yourself by having it vaccinated for rabies.
3. If you are bitten by an animal, wash the injured area thoroughly with soap and water. Report all bites to your physician immediately.
4. If bitten, capture the animal but do not kill it unless necessary. It is often impossible to distinguish rabies in a dead animal. If you must kill the animal, be careful not to damage the brain.
5. If rabies is prevalent in the area, do not examine mouths or throats of sick pets or livestock. Wear thick rubber gloves when handling these animals.
6. Cooperate with your county board of supervisors and county rabies inspector in enforcing the Illinois rabies law.

Cattle Feeders Meet April 13 On U. I. Campus

URBANA—Cattle feeders from all over the state will gather on the University of Illinois campus Friday, April 13, to see the latest research in progress and hear the results of recently completed tests.

A. L. Neumann, head of the beef cattle division, reports that tours of the research farm will begin at 9 a.m. Visitors will see steers on rations of haylage and high-moisture corn and cracked shelled corn, limited high-moisture corn and full feed of corn. They will also see steers on multi-eared and regular corn silage will be on display. A completely automated feeding system will be in operation.

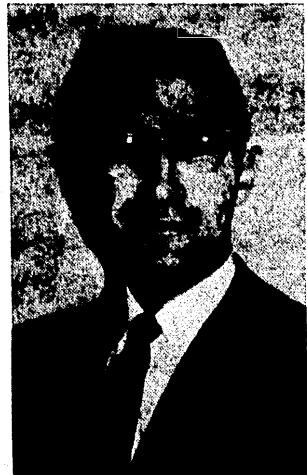

During the afternoon session beginning at 1:15 in the University auditorium, beef cattle research workers will discuss the findings of recent research. Topics to be covered include the relationship of nitrate content of feed and Vitamin A in the ration.

effect of energy on protein requirements of finishing cattle, effect of heavy silage feeding on feed requirements and carcass quality and factors affecting yield of trimmed cuts in the beef carcass. L. H. Simerl, U. of I. agricultural economist, will discuss the beef cattle outlook.

J. R. "Uncle Joe" Fulkerson, Jerseyville, will also report the changes he has seen since the first cattle feeders day he attended 50 years ago.

All farmers and others interested in beef cattle are invited to attend.

New Adviser

ORVILLE J. HEINKE will assume his duties as farm adviser of Pike county agricultural extension service, April 2, 1962. Mr. Heinke is a native of Wisconsin, having been reared on a farm in Waupaca county, 40 miles west of Green Bay. He operated and managed the home farm after his father's death until 1949 when he went to Minnesota to work in agricultural extension as a 4-H club summer assistant county agent.

He also worked in Wisconsin in the same capacity and was director of the state 4-H camp. He received his B.S. in agriculture from the University of Wisconsin, majoring in animal husbandry in 1958. Since this time he has been employed as assistant farm adviser in Peoria county. Mr. Heinke is married and has two daughters.

ON THE U. I. ADVISORY BOARD

This photo shows the advisory committee to the Illinois College of Agriculture at Urbana, during its two-day March meeting.

This board of farmers meets quarterly with the University chiefs. The plan was outlined more than a century ago by Jonathan Baldwin Turner of Jacksonville, who thought up — originated — the agricultural schools of America.

using fibrous feeds in the ration does not seem to be so economical as limited feeding of a concentrated ration, Becker reports. In the Illinois tests, adding fibrous feeds reduced both rate of gain and feeding efficiency. But restricting feed intake of a concentrated ration reduced only rate of gain.

The Common Market group includes six regular members—West Germany, The Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg, France and Italy. Greece is an associate member. Several other countries, notably England, may join the group.

The object of the organization is to improve economic conditions in the member countries. This is being done by eliminating tariffs and other legal restrictions on trade among the member nations.

But the group will establish and keep uniform tariffs and other restrictions on imports from non-member countries.

Modeled After U.S. These countries seek to have free trade among the member countries just as we have free trade among our states. And just as our tariffs are the same at every port from Los Angeles to Boston, all of the ports in the Common Market countries will have the same tariffs.

These changes in trade policies are being made gradually, especially on farm products. It may be 10 years or more before the new trade policies become completely effective on agricultural products. Thus the impact of the Common Market on U. S. farm exports will be spread over several years.

Among the Common Market countries West Germany and The Netherlands are our biggest customers. Each bought about $32 million worth of our farm products in the year ending last June 30. All together the Common Market nations bought from us farm products valued at $1,130 million, or 23 percent of our total agricultural exports.

Cash Customers But this figure does not show the full importance of the purchases by the Common Market group. These countries are all good cash customers, while our exports to some other nations are largely foreign aid.

England (the United Kingdom) last year bought $467 million worth of U. S. farm products, 10 percent of our total exports. Thus England and the Common Market countries together take about one-third of all our exports. England is also a good cash buyer for our products.

The countries of the Common Market are especially good buyers of cotton, soybeans, corn, wheat and tobacco. Last year they bought $270 million worth of cotton, $118 million of soybeans, $120 million of wheat, $103 million of corn and $86 million of tobacco.

England bought $100 million worth of tobacco, $105 million of feed grains, $59 million of cotton, $31 million of lard and $30 million of wheat and flour.

Whether our exports to the Common Market countries shrink or swell will depend in part upon how good we are at political trading. Our bargaining power consists mainly in being able to offer competitive prices on the products that we want to sell, and reduced tariffs upon the products that the countries of the Common Market want to sell to us.

U.S. Special Milk Program For Children

By A. R. Allen

This program was started in the fall of 1954 under the Agricultural Act of 1954 as an outright price support measure. It has continued to serve that function, and there is evidence that it has played an important and effective part in supporting milk prices to producers. However, the program has been so generally and enthusiastically accepted by parents, school officials and nutritionists that it now has taken on more of the general welfare of the nation's children than of being solely for price support purposes.

In the first year of operation, almost 450 million half pints were distributed under the program in over 41,000 schools, and expenditures totaled 17.1 million dollars. The program has now expanded to include non-profit summer camps, nursery schools, settlement houses and similar non-profit child-care institutions. These are reimbursed at the rate of two cents per half pint.

In the fiscal year 1961 about 85,500 schools participated in the program, and reimbursement for reducing the selling price to children below the cost of the milk and for incurring expenses in distributing the milk, 25 billion half pints.

TECHNOLOGY NOT THE VILLAIN!

Technology has been pictured as the villain and the farmer as the innocent victim of technology in producing farm surplus.

Not so, say economists of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago. Technology itself, they say, produces nothing. It is the adoption of technology which brings about the increases in production. The new technology was adopted because it was profitable to do so and it was profitable partially because prices were supported by government. This reduced the risk of making new investments and the effects of larger production on both prices and profits.

FROM THE CORN CRIB! The telephone rang in the real estate office and a soft feminine voice asked: "Do you sell maternity clothes?"

Without a pause the salesman replied: "No ma'am, but could we interest you in a larger house?"

The Civil War --- 100 Years Ago

Grierson New Colonel Of The 6th Cavalry

Appointment Surprises Many Folks

The people around the square didn't know what to think.

It was 100 years ago this week that they got the news that Thomas H. Cavanaugh, colonel of the 6th Illinois Cavalry, had resigned. That didn't surprise anybody, least of all those who had been hearing regularly from their friends in the regiment.

They knew that the only reason Cavanaugh had gotten the job in the first place was because he was a brother-in-law of Governor Richard Yates. They said it was unusual to have to go to Missouri to get a competent leader for an Illinois cavalry regiment, that if Cavanaugh had wanted to fight Secesh there was plenty of room and opportunity in Missouri to do it; that he spent nearly all his time in the St. Francis hotel in Cairo because it had the best bar in town; that he had barely squeaked through the first time he was court-martialed and already had another one coming up, even if he was the War Governor's brother-in-law.

Sure, nobody was surprised to hear that he had resigned. But Gosh all hemlock, what did Dick mean by giving the job to Prof. Benjamin H. Grierson, the music teacher, a man who couldn't even keep store in Meredosia!

That's what the people in Jacksonville were talking about one hundred years ago.

Grierson took over the badly demoralized 6th. Within a month the people of this town knew there had been a great change for the better, and in another 14 months the entire United States was talking about Grierson's unbelievable, epic raid through Mississippi.

But nobody in Jacksonville, and particularly in Morgan county, could have believed it in 1862. Couldn't hardly believe it after it happened.

GEN. B. H. GRIERSON
From a 1866 Photograph

All Grierson did was to lead 1,700 picked men from LaGrange, Tenn., with three days' rations and no base, through more than 600 miles of enemy territory, riding and fighting practically every step of the way, and arriving in Baton Rouge, La., just 16 days later. In the last 28 hours the raiders, all on stolen horses, rode 76 miles, had four engagements, destroyed two enemy camps, captured nearly 100 prisoners, and crossed Tickfaw, Amite and Comite rivers, all flooded and bridgeless.

During those 16 days he had the Confederate high command literally running in circles. And in those same days Grant got his men across the Mississippi river below impregnable Vicksburg and then moved north to put this major Confederate bastion in a vise it couldn't get out of.

As the Lincoln was so tickled when he got the particulars that he immediately brevetted the Jacksonville music teacher a general—and it was an appointment he never had cause to regret.

Just A Natural
For Grierson was a natural born cavalry leader. After the war he accepted a permanent rank of colonel and led his famous 6th throughout the Southwest when it was literally the wild west, and came out of it all a real general.

Getting back to the 6th Cavalry, who would have thought that such a demoralized bunch of men could have been changed into such a fighting force. Let's go to a letter written a hundred years ago by a Jacksonville man who signed himself "Orpheus." It's so long we can't print all of it.

FRIEND JOURNAL:
"Our Colonel has resigned. You, like the heroes of old, he has moved fallen, not like them with his feet to the foe, and his shield broken, but with a smiling countenance and youthful tread, he disappears, giving us a new view, as he majestically turns the corner of the St. Francis."

"To be sure, he never was in camp but twice since we have been here, but he was not the common mould and could not be expected to mingle with those so far below him."

THIS PHOTO, taken from the eastern approach of the Illinois river bridge at Meredosia, shows the building where Gen. Benjamin H. Grierson, the Jacksonville music teacher, went broke in the mercantile business. For four years he and his partner, John Wallihan, ran a general store, bought corn, wheat and rye, and ran the ferry. Grierson always blamed the failure because "we gave credit too liberally." An examination of his account books shows he did give credit, but so did all the other merchants of that time—for in 1860 the storekeepers were the bankers.

his bravery balanced many of his defects. That he is brave, I know, for he says so himself."

The adjutant was the governor's nephew, Thomas H. Cavanaugh, Jr., 17. He was arrogant, stupid, a slight-built, pimply-faced fellow who doted on fancy French linen shirts and mocked money from the non-coms and privates and then threatened them with extra duty when they wanted their money back.

"To see the fine expression of the eye and look upon the powerful frame of our hero, one cannot but regret the necessity of his leaving us. Like all brave men, he has enemies and they would crush him, yes, a boy only seventeen years of age. To have passed through the many scenes of this horrid war and then be trampled upon is almost a crime, after, too, he had gone to the expense of buying a new pair of shoulder straps. Ah! well, we can only weep, for who would not? If any of his many enemies were to hear him relate with pathetic voice and tear-rimmed eye, how his father's Missouri plantation of a thousand, peach trees and an entire brandy crop were destroyed by the predatory bands of our southern foe, their very souls would melt within them, and their stout arm would be raised to take vengeance upon the oppressor."

Before his resignation Tommy was trying to get on Gen. Grant's staff. He didn't make it.

"If you succeed in your noble endeavor of getting on Major General Grant's staff, do not rush into action hastily. Tommy don't do it, for I know your disposition, and you like many others, might frighten your horse, who might carry you far to the rear, thereby losing you the honors you so richly deserve; and Tommy, if you are placed upon the staff of YOUR MOTHER'S BROTHER, Major General Richard Yates, I know, for the credit of your family and all of us, you will manfully wield the pen as Brigade Quartermaster, but be sure and don't get behind in your shirt account. So, Tommy, farewell."

ORPHEUS closed by taking the hide off the regimental chaplain, James F. Jacques of Quincy, who had been the first president of the Illinois Conference Female Academy, now MacMurray College.

"That our men are among the most moral in the service can only be accounted for by the untiring exertion of our Chaplain. Truly his words are costing us over two hundred and fifty dollars per sermon, and when a man of God enters into this war, he must be paid, and if he goes to Washington or St. Louis, all on business, of course, the affections of the soldiery follow him. That the example of our preacher is good must necessarily be so, for the reason that he is conversant with all the ways of the world, and visits no places of evil resort at home, but he goeth abroad, and to beware of the sins of Babylon. He is of profound intellect, beloved by the pupils of his institution in Quincy, and hard to beat in a horse trade."

You may be pretty sure that Orpheus' final sentences didn't set well with many people in Jacksonville, for Jacques was a remarkable individual. He never lacked friends and he always had enemies in ample numbers.

His trips to Washington panned out O.K., for Lincoln commissioned him colonel of the 73rd Illinois regiment, which proved to be a scrapping outfit—maybe because it had so many preachers.

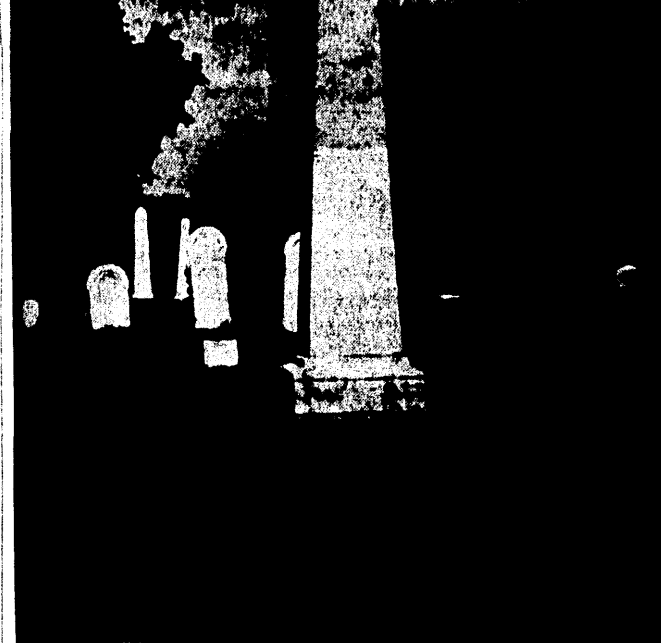

But Lincoln had plenty of reason to get hostile with the Rev. Col. in the summer of 1864, when he privately appointed himself an ambassador without portfolio to go to Richmond and there he went into conference with Jefferson Davis and tried to arrange a

Some feel that the business failure for a number of reasons, and politics was the biggest reason of them all. For Benjamin Harrison Grierson was an 1856 Republican in a Democratic hotbed. If you think Meredosia is a Democratic stronghold now, you should look up the figures. In those days you had to stand up and declare your vote; no such a thing as a "durned sneaky ballot" existed. Anybody who declared for the Republican ticket had a pretty fair chance of learning how to swim in the Illinois river—with his clothes on.

But Grierson also organized a band and taught his pupils to read music. He must have neglected his business badly in the elections of 1856-1860, for he and his band played in every Republican rally in this area. The band was always mentioned in the papers because it "played by the card."

The writer personally feels the end came when Grierson put in a line of toothbrushes. This was too much, and his creditors moved in. Since 1860 the building has housed a series of general stores, a clothing store, a harness shop, several saloons, restaurants and barbershops. It is now owned by Allen Chrisman of Meredosia and he uses it to store feed, fertilizer, seed and other farm supplies.

This fast-deteriorating shaft of limestone in the northeast part of Jacksonville East cemetery marks the grave of Gen. Benjamin H. Grierson, one of the greatest cavalry leaders recorded in history. Brave, generous, intelligent, modest and courteous, he was a most efficient and hard-striking warrior.

settlement of the war. This was about as bold a piece of effrontery as you can imagine, and Old Abe, battling for his political life in his quest for another term of office, and the Union, was plenty sore.

After he got control of his temper he quietly put the Rev. Col. on the shelf for the duration.

Undaunted, Jacques went to Kentucky and there tried to rearrange things to suit his personal notions. But the boys down there got rid of him, in a rather novel way. They got the grand jury to indict him on a charge of rape. The Rev. promptly shook the dust of the sacred place off his sandals and damned it to eternity—that is, when he got on the Illinois side of the Ohio river.

Will You Vote Them Up Or Down

Editor Horatio Barden of the Jacksonville Journal was a natural born prohibitionist and one hundred years ago he wrote a strong editorial in reference to the coming wet-dry vote in the town. Editor Barden had something to talk about, for the booze element had gotten entirely out of hand. A reporter for the St. Louis Republican (which happened to be a Democratic newspaper) visited Jacksonville during the winter and reported the town was supporting at least 40 "gro-shops" although only half of them were licensed. Many of them never bothered about looking up at all and if an eight-year-old came in for a drink, he got it—that is if he had the necessary "bit in hand."

So many men who stalked prohibition decided it couldn't be as bad as the conditions of 100 years ago, and they decided to vote dry. It is doubtful if Editor Barden's nihilism changed a single vote, but let's read it anyway.

WILL YOU VOTE THEM UP, OR DOWN

One year ago there was not a Billiard Saloon, Bowling Alley, a known Brothel, or public Liquor Saloon in Jacksonville. In April last license triumphed, and the result is, twenty licensed Gro-shops, principally upon the Square and our most public streets—several Billiard Saloons, Bowling Allys, and Brothels in full blast in our town!

Friends of Temperance, good order, morality and public virtue, shall these dens of drunkenness, debauchery and idleness longer be permitted to disgrace our otherwise beautiful city?

They were voted up last April by license, shall not they and license, which is their parent and support, be voted down together on Monday next?

The moral man may say, "I didn't intend to vote for billiard saloons, brothels, &c. I only voted for license for the sale of liquors." But, sir, they are "one and inseparable." It is a train of evils which necessarily must and will follow license. If they are re-established in our midst, it will be done by the influence and votes of moral professed temperance and more professed Christian men.

Shall it be done?

The four anti-license candidates for town trustees were elected by substantial majorities, and no licenses were issued. It can't be determined how much difference it made, but we do have plenty of references on how much trouble it was to get a regiment of soldiers through Jacksonville, "because of the plentitude of spirits in the place."

Editor Barden printed the following "locals."

N. B.—Mr. S. J. Mattinye will call upon those of our subscribers who have not yet renewed their subscriptions to the JOURNAL, and give them an opportunity to do so. A large number have come forward and renewed without waiting for an agent to visit them. We have also received many new subscribers within the last few weeks, and have no doubt many more are only awaiting an opportunity to do so.

MARRIED—On the 12th ult., at the residence of the bride's father, in Bath, Mason County, by the Rev. J. N. West, Mr. Jacob Strawn, Jr., of Morgan County, to Miss Mary Patterson, of Bath.

RETURNED—Mr. E. C. Lax, of this place, has just returned from New York, where he has been purchasing a new and extensive stock of goods, which he assures us will be on hand next week. His advertisement will appear in our next.

We are obliged to defer our notice of the Junior Exhibition until next week.

Among the latest advertisements is one describing an air-tight coffin, which protects the form from decomposition "and can be retained in the parlor as an elegant piece of furniture without any annoyance whatever."

BLOOD WILL TELL
The Chicago Tribune protests against the charge of hostility to Gen. McClellan, and proceeds to award him credit as follows:

"He is fully entitled to the glory of having out-camped Beauregard. It was a contest of merit, and our side out-sat the other. The rebels staid still their patience was entirely exhausted, and then decamped. Our General had the most endurance and staid the longest. Blood will tell. Strategy is a great thing in war. After a camping contest of eight months, the victory and Manassas are ours."

at Dixon Springs

High-yielding grass-legume pastures may or may not be more profitable than mediocre pastures. Top pastures will cost more than poor ones. Therefore, more livestock production must be taken from them to pay the higher costs.

It is important, then, to have healthy, thrifty animals that can most efficiently convert pasture to beef or milk. The animals should have been bred for rapid gains, and their quality should be high enough to make the gains worth more on the market. The pasture should be grazed properly — that is, each of the grasses and legumes should be grazed when it is most nutritious.

For Increased Gains
Here are some practices you can use this year to get more from your pastures:

Start the grazing season with thin steers. Thin steers on pasture alone can be expected to gain about 65 pounds more than fleshy or half-fat animals. Fleshy steers should be continued on feed on the pasture.

Grazing steers that are free of internal parasites. The wormy steer will make poor use of pasture. If you suspect that animals may have worms, drench with phenothiazine before putting them on grass.

Use stilbestrol implants on steers. A 12- or 24-milligram implant can mean an extra 20 to 30 pounds of gain on each steer.

Last, feeding on pasture after the first 90 to 100 days of grazing can help you use pasture more efficiently. At Dixon Springs five different groups of steers in five different years gained 150 pounds during the first 114 days of the pasture season. During the rest of the summer, the steers gained only 50 pounds each. Average daily gain was 1.32 pounds for the first period and dropped to 0.75 pound during the last 67 days.

A program on feeding on pasture after 90 to 100 days can relieve the pressure on needed acres. It means that stocking rates can be stepped up so that the pasture is more completely consumed in the spring and early summer when forage is most plentiful and nutritious. With this system it is reasonable to increase pasture carrying capacity by one-third.

Good pastures, good management and good livestock will pay off.

$1,000 Was How Cake Crumbled With Bogus Bills

VIRGINIA—It isn't news when a cake or screwdriver sell at regular prices at a bake sale or farm sale, but those two items, as well as many others made the news when Mrs. Elmer Carlson, Virginia, paid $1,000.00 in greenbacks for a cake and Joe Lintner, Chanterville, $700.00 for the screwdriver, at the auction held at the close of the H.A. enrollment. Bidding was spirited and money flowed freely as Charles Forman and Jessie Cox auctioned the numerous items. LeRoy Klein, Ashland, was the clerk.

Mrs. Marvin Schmale is the proud possessor of a beautiful planter, a gift from her husband, for which he paid $800.00. The William Scheer family are all set for emergencies now with the First Aid Kit bought by Mrs. Scheer for $800.00.

Mrs. Elizabeth DeFries is enjoying a brand new hand towel which cost her $450.00.

The Vernon Edwards family of Ashland is enjoying what must be a new kind of beans, for one can cost him $300.00.

Many other items sold over the block to bring the total sale to $18,180.00.

Volunteer H. I. A. enrollment workers had earned the money by various services they had performed for the organization during the past two weeks. It should be stated here that the greenbacks were all bogus money, but those attending were enthusiastic in their praise of the auction and the fun they had.

The enrollment was a success also and many new members were received into the Health Improvement Association.

Thompson Denies Secret Spy Sign

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—A disgruntled Bobby Thompson said Friday "it positively isn't so" that a secret signal from center field triggered his famous home run that won the 1951 National League pennant for the New York Giants.

He challenged the man who made the charge to "show some character—come out in the open and reveal yourself."

"It was a high inside fast ball, and nobody called the pitch," the former Giant outfielder said. "That's the most ridiculous thing I ever heard of. If I'd been getting signals, why wouldn't I have hit the first pitch? It was a fast one right down the middle."

A former member of the Giants, who requested anonymity, said in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Thursday that the New York team rigged up an electrical apparatus in the center field clubhouse of the Polo Grounds with a wire leading to the Giants' dugout.

The operator pressed the button once for a fast ball and twice for a breaking pitch, the informant said, adding that this signal-stealing scheme was in effect when Thompson hit the home run which broke up the third and deciding game of a pennant playoff series with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

In Phoenix, Ariz., where the Giants are training, a source close to the team confirmed the 1951 spy operation, but in Vero Beach, Fla., former Giant manager Leo Durocher, now a coach with the Los Angeles Dodgers, vehemently denied it.

"No. No. No." Durocher said when questioned about the matter. "The man who dreamed that story up has been reading too much fiction. We never had anything like that. If we had signals, Bobby would have murdered that first pitch."

Thompson retired in 1960 and is now a sales representative for the West Virginia pulp and paper company in New York.

In the unforgettable game, the Giants were behind 4-2 in the ninth inning with runners on second and third and one out when Ralph Braa was called from the Brooklyn bullpen to pitch to Thompson.

The first pitch was a called strike. Bobby caught the second one on the nose and drove it into the upper left field stands, giving the Giants a 5-4 victory.

Laddies Go Home

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP)—Fifteen powerful Scottish girls flexed their muscles Friday and vowed to put rugby before romance.

The girls belong to the Amazons, a team of sturdy lassies who like nothing better than a muddy brawl on the football field.

Rugby is supposed to be a man's game, but lots of Edinburgh girls have taken it up recently.

Sheila Young, 21, leader of the Amazons, said: "When our boy friends learned we were serious about playing rugby they gave us an ultimatum. They told us to drop it or they would drop us."

"But the girls are so dedicated to rugby that only one chose romance."

Sheila's eyes flashed. "Our next game will be a massacre," she grinned. "We're a pretty bad tempered bunch at the best of times, but now we're positively full of hate."

The Amazons' unfortunate opponents in the April 19 game will be the Varsity Valkyries, composed of strong girls studying at Edinburgh University.

Normal Accepts Christmas Cage Bid In Virginia

NORMAL, Ill. (AP)—Illinois State Normal University's basketball team has accepted an invitation to play in the Ninth Annual Christmas Collegiate basketball tournament at Quantico, Va., this year.

The tourney is sponsored by the Marine Corps School at Quantico, last year's tournament winner among eight entries. Indiana State was runner-up last Christmas. The tourney will be held Dec. 19-21 this year.

Announcement of the acceptance was made Friday by Dr. James E. Collier, Normal basketball coach.

Miller Hurls Giants' 1st Cub Victory, 3-2

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—Veteran St. Louis Miller retired rookie Moe Mohrhardt on a high fly with the bases full and two outs in the ninth inning Friday to preserve a 3-2 victory for the San Francisco Giants over the Chicago Cubs.

The triumph, the Giants' first over the Cubs this season, enabled San Francisco to balance its Cactus League record at 7-7. The loss was Chicago's sixth in 13 games.

Mike McCormick had bested Jackie Curtis in an all-southpaw pitching duel before Miller snuffed out the Chicago threat in the 9th.

Willie Mays' double and Orlando Cepeda's single gave the Giants a run in the first. San Francisco got its second run in the fourth, when Felipe Alou doubled and scored on Manuel Mota's single.

San Francisco picked up what proved to be its winning run in the eighth after Tony Balasano, a right-hander, replaced Curtis.

Balasano walked Dick Phillips with one out. A wild pitch and rookie Charles Peterson's double scored Phillips.

Singles by Ernie Banks, Jim McInnis, and rookie Elmer White, playing shortstop for Chicago, produced the first Cub run in the second.

Billy Williams' double touched off the Chicago fireworks in the ninth. Rookie Lou Brock smashed his second straight triple to score Williams before Miller walked Ken Hubbs and Mels Matthews to load the bases with two outs.

Then Willie McCovey pulled in Mohrhardt's fly to end the game.

KRALICK GOES SEVEN IN TWINS' VICTORY

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Southpaw Jack Kralick became the first Minnesota pitcher to go as far as seven innings Friday as the Twins hopped on the Chicago White Sox for a 6-1 exhibition baseball victory.

Kralick yielded seven hits and was followed by Ray Moore who held the Chicagoans scoreless the rest of the way.

The Twins had two big scoring innings, both at the expense of rookie right-hander Joel Horne. They scored three runs on four hits, including doubles by Zorzo Veras and George Banks in the first, and pushed across three more in the fourth, which was fea-

Who Said Dey Wasn't

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—No more complaints please about the jargon we use over here in the sports department. We've gone respectable, or at least as respectable as Webster's Third New International Dictionary can make us.

For years we've been accused of bewildering Little League mothers and newspaper managing editors with a language all our own. But those tortured words and phrases have made the new dictionary in force.

"Four-bagger? It's right there! A home run." Haymaker? "A powerful blow with a fist, often resulting in a knockout." Red dog? "To rush the passer in football." Lay-up? "A jumping one-hand shot in basketball made off the backboard from close under the basket."

There's "pigskin," and "horsehide," and even "bum," both tennis and ski.

There's southpaw, "A left-handed baseball pitcher." Also, "A boxer who leads with the right hand and foot forward, while guarding with the left hand."

Foot in the bucket: "Batting with the foot nearest the pitcher drawn back from his plate."

Steal: "To gain a base by running without the aid of a hit or an error."

Also "grinder" and "cager" but, mercifully, not "hunched." They had to draw the line somewhere.

However, the man who wrote the dictionary definition for "curve" either never saw Tommy Bridges or Johnny Sain at their best, or didn't believe it.

He defines it this way: "A baseball pitch in which the ball swerves or appears to swerve from its normal course of flight because of a spin put on it in delivery."

The "screwball" man apparently saw Carl Hubbell work. Here's his definition: "A baseball pitch having reverse spin and a break in the opposite direction to a curve."

Even the spitball is legal in the dictionary. "A baseball pitch delivered after the ball has been moistened with saliva or sweat."

In the unforgettable game, the Giants were behind 4-2 in the ninth inning with runners on second and third and one out when Ralph Braa was called from the Brooklyn bullpen to pitch to Thompson.

Downstate Prep Notes

By JOHN CAMPBELL

Joe Adam has resigned as head basketball coach at Canton high school as he submitted his resignation and it was accepted by the Board of Education Monday night at the meeting. He gave no reason for his quitting the post he had held for the last three years.

In addition to coaching he teaches history and physical education. Adam's team compiled a 2-22 record the past season, the worst in the school's history.

The 1962 State tourney will be held in the Huff gym in Champaign for the last time as the 1963 tournament will be staged in the new University of Illinois Assembly Hall. Championship games have been played in the Huff gym since it became available in 1926.

Lewistown high mentor Bill Wilson is anxious to fill an open date in the 1962-63 basketball chart as Quincy and Jacksonville have been dropped from the schedule.

The Indians completed a fine season, winning the first regional title in 22 years. Jack D. Hall is the only regular returning for next season at Lewistown high school.

New basketball coaches will be named for 1962-63 at Diverson, Flora, Fairfield, Canton, Streator, Auburn and Arlington Heights. Many more changes will be listed in the next few weeks as several will probably resign before the end of the present school term.

Quincy high mentor Sherrill Hanks taught in the grade school in Springfield several years ago prior to his taking the varsity basketball coaching job at Shurtliff college. He coached at Alton high for five years and took over the Quincy job last year.

Centuria high will be loaded with talent for the 1962-63 campaign with a fine group of sophomores and the junior ladsen club of this season returning for Coach Bill Davies.

The Orphans will be favored to repeat their trip to Champaign next season. They proved that winning their own Holiday tourney title was no fluke and have gotten steady since that tourney in December.

Jerseyville football boss Joe Jurkain wants a game for September 14 for his Panthers. Rantoul basketball coach wants to fill an open date for the 1962-63 season. Bill Walsh is the athletic director at Rantoul and Bob Kidd is the coach. James Humphrey will guide the Monmouth golfers.

Season schedules are:

Track
April 7, Augustana, Carthage at Monmouth.
April 14, Ripon at Monmouth.
April 17, St. Ambrose at Monmouth.

April 22, Monmouth Relays at Monmouth.
April 27-28, Drake Relays at Des Moines, Iowa.
May 5, Beloit Relays at Beloit.
May 12, Knox at Galesburg.
May 15, Augustana at Monmouth.

May 18-19, Midwest Conference Championship Meet, at Ripon College, Ripon, Wis.
(Freshmen will compete in the Monmouth Relays, Beloit Relays, the dual meet with Knox, and one other dual meet to be scheduled.)

Baseball
April 4, Cornell at Monmouth.
April 5, Coe at Cedar Rapids, Iowa.
April 10, Augustana at Monmouth.
April 14, Simpson (double-header), Indianola, Iowa.
April 20, Knox at Galesburg.
April 27, Grinnell, Grinnell, Iowa.
April 28, Cornell (double-header) at Mt. Pleasant, Iowa.

I got to see Bluffs lose to Galesburg in Macomb Sectional and Coach George Danhaus has a fine basketball team. Lee Frederick and Burl Fargo are two of the best small high school cagers to perform in Western Illinois in several years.

I understand Kansas State has a fine chance of landing Frederick who is a great college prospect.

The entire Bluffs squad is to be complimented for the excellent record turned in during the 1961-62 season.

Arenzville in 1948 and Milton in 1938 were other strong small high school basketball teams of Western Illinois.

A few others worth mentioning were White Hall, 1937; Roodhouse, 1939; Bluffs, 1939-1940; Murphysville, 1935; Griggsville, 1928; Waverly, 1924; Jerseyville, 1958; and Winchester, 1962.

The Chisox, absorbing their sixth loss in their last seven games, stranded 12 base runners and got their only run in the second when Sammy Esposito looped a single to right after two errors had given the Chisox a scoring opportunity.

St. Louis Miller retired rookie Moe Mohrhardt on a high fly with the bases full and two outs in the ninth inning Friday to preserve a 3-2 victory for the San Francisco Giants over the Chicago Cubs.

The triumph, the Giants' first over the Cubs this season, enabled San Francisco to balance its Cactus League record at 7-7. The loss was Chicago's sixth in 13 games.

Mike McCormick had bested Jackie Curtis in an all-southpaw pitching duel before Miller snuffed out the Chicago threat in the 9th.

Willie Mays' double and Orlando Cepeda's single gave the Giants a run in the first. San Francisco got its second run in the fourth, when Felipe Alou doubled and scored on Manuel Mota's single.

IT'S A WHOPPER — An Indiana woman fishing from the private boat of a Michigan man landed a whopping Warsaw grouper while fishing off Palm Beach, Florida. Mrs. W. C. Griffith of Indianapolis, using a special deep-sea rig aboard the Sambo, owned by George Bass of Birmingham, Mich., landed this 300-pound grouper in just 15 minutes.

The grouper, better known as the Giant Sea Bass, world record is 483 lbs. caught in 1951 off of Coronado Is., Mexico.

Lotus And Abarth Win Sebring Races Friday

SEBRING, Fla. (AP)—Young Monterey, Calif., a veteran sports car driver who had won several races in a Maserati.

Parsons suffered a spinal injury when his Lotus—the one Piggett had originally been listed to drive—dropped into a sandbank and flipped.

He was flown to a hospital in St. Petersburg.

Piggett averaged 90.15 m.p.h. The only car he didn't lap was the Cooper of Tim Mayer of Dalton, Pa., an Army private on leave, who finished a distant second.

Walt Hansen of Westfield, N. J., was third in another Cooper.

Piggett took the lead on the first lap and left the rest of the cars behind. The race was marred by accidents and breakdowns and only 11 of 27 starters finished.

The only serious accident involved Piggett's teammate on the Rosebud Racing team of Victoria, Tex., Charles (Chuck) Parsons of SEBRING, Fla. (AP)—Pat Piggett of Bellingham, Wash., driving a Lotus, lapped every car but one Friday and won a 25-lap race for formula junior cars.

MONMOUTH COLLEGE GOLFERS
MONMOUTH, Ill. — The Monmouth College golf squad, coached by James Humphrey, will have plenty of time to tune up for the first meet, a quadrangular match April 14 at Knox College.

Five returning lettermen comprise the nucleus of the squad. They are William Wanslade of Carlinville, Dale Smith of LaGrange, William Pratt of Joliet, Frank Oakley of Marengo, all juniors, and William Irelan of Dayton, Ohio, a senior. Terry George of Jacksonville, Ill., and Michael Spruston of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, both numerical winners on last year's freshman squad, round out the team.

Early New England laws compelled men to have their hair trimmed regularly, around a cap.

CARBONDALE, Ill.: Rusty Mitchell, leading point-winner on Southern Ill. U.'s gymnastic team, receives final treatment on his injured ankle prior to departing for Albuquerque, N.M., where the Salukis hope to win their first national sports championship in major competition next week. Mitchell a sophomore from West Covina, Calif., is undefeated in dual competition in two events, free exercise and tumbling.

De Witt Wins Deal To Purchase Reds

CINCINNATI (AP)—Bill De Witt, whose trades and front-office shuffling helped the 1961 Cincinnati Reds to their first National League flag in 21 years, won an agreement to buy the club Friday for $4,625,000.

De Witt had said last Tuesday he had been negotiating for the team for several months. He said then, however, the talks were still in the early stage.

De Witt announced at a news conference that "this agreement was approved by the board of directors of the club at a special meeting Friday."

"This agreement will be submitted to the foundation trustees, headed by their approval at a special meeting for April 5."

De Witt came up to Cincinnati from spring training at Tampa, Fla., Thursday night for Friday's directors' meeting.

He said the transfer must also be ratified by three-quarters of the nine other National League clubs.

President Warren Giles of the National League was reported in Florida Friday.

However, Giles had said Tuesday he knew of De Witt's negotiations for the club and said he approved. Giles added:

"I feel a foundation is not the proper organization to run a major league ball club."

Powell Crosley Jr., longtime owner of the Reds who died last spring, willed his 50 per cent plus shares in the team to a charitable foundation he had established earlier.

Crosley had used his own money to keep the team in Cincinnati when times were lean, and he urged in his will that the foundation take every means to keep the ball club in the Queen City.

The foundation trustees, headed by Crosley's daughter, Mrs. Stanley Kess, expressed confidence in De Witt's management and his intent to keep the team in Cincinnati.

Trustees said they had previously rejected a lower bid to buy the club.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—"He couldn't carry my bat." With those stinging words, Rogers Hornsby, baseball Hall of Fame hitter, turned up the heat Friday on a newly-spawned feud with Roger Maris, the 61-homer hitter of the New York Yankees.

Hornsby, now a coach with the New York Mets, called Maris a "little punk ball player," a "swell-up guy" and a "bush league"—the latter perhaps the sharpest of the printable things one major leaguer can call another.

It was the latest incident in a turbulent spring for Maris—known as "Rude Roger"—to at least one New York newspaper—that has included a running fight with the press, and a report he signed autographs with an "X."

The Hornsby-Maris spat started Thursday at an exhibition game between the Mets and the Yankees. A photographer asked Hornsby, one of the game's greatest hitters, to grab a bat and pose for a picture with Maris, who hit more home runs last year than any other man in a season.

Hornsby obliged, but Maris turned his back on the Mets coach. "I've posed with some real major leaguers not bush league," he is quoted as saying.

"The Rajah said was 'rummy' many hours after the incident. He said Maris muttered something when he turned his back on him."

"Something about 'that guy has been knocking me in the papers,'" Hornsby said. "I know what he meant. Last season I told a writer that there was only one thing Maris could do better than the 'Babe'—that was, run."

"I'll give Maris credit for hitting 61," Hornsby said. "That's a tremendous feat. But he has the advantage of playing in Yankee Stadium. The stadium has a short right field and Maris is a right field hitter."

"The fellow's behavior off the field is unforgivable," Hornsby added.

Both Hawkins and Davies gave credit to Carver in "fooling us with their defense."

They were more aggressive than they thought they would be and they made us make mistakes."

One defensive strategy employed by Larry Hawkins, Carver coach, was to alternate three guards in order to keep fresh players on Centralia's guards, who usually contribute a big share of the Orphan's scoring. Hawkins was a little critical of his team for not slowing down the game more toward the end.

"They took some shots I wouldn't have taken," he said, then added with a grin, "but how can I argue with them—they won."
